John D. Rockefeller Announces He and Son Are Purchasing and Will Continue To.

BANKERS BELIEVE HYSTERIA IS PAST Steel and American Can Extra Dividends Build Confidence—Sales Exceeded 10,500,000 Shares.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Powerful buying support, supplied by some of the country's largest financial institutions and wealthiest individuals, including John D. Rockefeller Sr. and his son, turned the course of stock prices definitely upward today after a week of disastrous selling by panic-stricken investors and speculators throughout the world had washed away more than $25,000,000,000 in quoted values.

Scores of issues closed $10 to $15 higher. Trading continued at a swelling pace, total sales running 10,727,300 shares, exceeded only by yesterday's and last Thursday's turnovers.

Average Rise 19 Points. The average closing price of 50 industrial stocks rose 19 points, 20 railroad stocks increased 5.4 points and 25 utility stocks rose 23.4 points.

Call money held at 6 per cent all day, despite withdrawals to meet margin requirements, and call money was nominally quoted at 6 per cent for all maturities for the first time in more than a year. Foreign exchanges eased, reflecting a return flow of funds to New York as the renewed buying movement set in on the stock market. The Canadian dollar dropped to a low of 2 cents, and sterling advanced to $4.87 15-16.

Commodities generally rallied. Wheat sold up 3 cents, corn 2 1/2, and cotton 1 1/2.

Leading New York bankers, meeting in informal conferences at the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co., announced that the situation was distinctly improved.

Announcement that governors of the New York Stock Exchange had decided to delay the opening of the exchange tomorrow from 10 a. m. to noon, and to suspend business on Friday and Saturday, did not come as a surprise.

Rockefeller Statement. A statement, issued from John D. Rockefeller's home at Pocantico Hills, N. Y., was one of the very frequent comments that he has based on business conditions in recent years. It said:

Believing that fundamental conditions of the country are sound and that there is nothing to disturb the business situation, I am confident that the destruction of values that has taken place on the exchange during the past week, my son and I have for some time been purchasing sound common stocks. We believe that the business situation is sound and will continue our purchases in substantial amounts at levels which we believe represent sound investment values.

A brief flurry of selling took place in some issues on the announcement that the exchange would be closed Friday and Saturday, and only open three hours tomorrow, but offerings were quickly absorbed, and prices continued upward in impressive fashion in the last hour of trading.

Some of the buying was attributed to Rockefeller's announcement.

Buying orders poured into the market in huge volume during the last hour. Many issues recorded the best prices of the day in the last half-hour of trading.

How Leading Issues Closed. Final prices on 50 leading issues, together with the net change compared with Tuesday's closing quotations, are given below.

American Can, $131, up $11. American & Foreign Power, $74, up $19.

American Smelting, $84.75, up $1. American Telephone & Telegraph, $240, up $26.

Anaconda, $95, up $10. Andes Copper, $41, up $6.

Atlantic Refining, $41.50, up $1. Baltimore & Ohio, $124.50, up $1.

Barnardell "A", $21.87, up $1. Bethlehem Steel, $94.50, up $1. Briggs Manufacturing, $13.50, up $1.

STOCK EXCHANGE TO CLOSE
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Opening Tomorrow Also Will Be Delayed Until Noon to Give Overworked Clerical Forces Rest.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Governors of the New York Stock Exchange voted today to delay the opening tomorrow until noon, and to close the exchange on Friday and Saturday. The exchange will be open Monday, the day preceding election day.

The governors, in an official statement, said: "The volume of trading in the last week has been so enormous that the organization of the stock exchange houses have reached a point of complete physical exhaustion. Most of these employees and those of the Stock Clearing Corporation have been on almost continuous duty for days and nights past and many of them have been without sleep for 48 to 72 hours."

"The governors have felt under an absolute necessity to recognize the purely physical and mechanical conditions and to afford the overworked staff sufficient time to recuperate and recover their strength."

The shorter hours and the two days of holidays, as arranged, will put the working organizations again in good condition and contribute materially to a more orderly and effective handling of all the trading centering on the exchange.

This line of procedure has been adopted after consultation with and approval by the so-called banking group.

The announcement was made from the stock exchange rostrum by Richard Whitney, a vice president of the exchange, and was greeted with prolonged cheers.

The exchange will reopen for business on Monday at the usual hour, but will be closed again Tuesday, election day, which is a legal holiday in New York.

The governors of the curb market announced later in the afternoon that it would also be closed until noon tomorrow, and that it would be closed Friday and Saturday.

The Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia Stock Exchanges also voted to delay tomorrow's opening and to close Friday and Saturday.

ROSENWALD BACKS EMPLOYEES HOLDING STOCKS ON MARGIN

He Pledges His Entire Personal Fortune to Help Them Save Themselves.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—The Herald and Examiner says in a copy-righted story that Julius Rosenwald, philanthropist and chairman of the board of Sears, Roebuck & Co., had pledged without limit his personal fortune to guarantee the stock market accounts of the 40,000 employees of his company.

Rosenwald decided to take this action, the paper said, after the market slump last Thursday. That same evening he conferred with his son, Leasing, who is vice president of the company; Robert E. Wood, president; W. O. Lewis, treasurer; and John Higgins, another vice president. Higgins was instructed to see that the employees' accounts were protected.

Higgins immediately looked up the accounts of all employees, not only in Chicago, but of all its branches.

"We simply put up the collateral so that our employees shall be able to weather the storm," Higgins explained.

"One of the first things I found out was that a great many employees will have no need for the assistance offered. Some of them, thanks to their thrift and good judgment, are wealthy. The help Mr. Rosenwald is offering is for those who need it."

DR. HARVEY W. WILEY, 85, ILL. As Pure Food Advocate He Won National Reputation.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, center of a 29-year pure food fight as chief chemist of the Department of Agriculture from 1883 to 1912, is seriously ill at his home. He was 85 years old on Oct. 18.

His insistence on purity of food and food flavors and preservatives kept him in the limelight many years. After his resignation he became contributing editor of a magazine devoted to food problems.

OCCASIONAL RAIN TONIGHT AND TOMORROW; COLDER THE TEMPERATURES.

A description of the snowstorm which forced down the plane and of the experience of the passengers was related by Pilot Doles, who had left Holbrook, flying east, and was about one hour out, he said, "when I had to dodge a storm, and turned toward St. Johns, Ariz. Suddenly the storm seemed to break over us all at once, and landing became a necessity."

I could see down below not a very large place, but it looked safe. And I got down there and got down quick. It was about five miles from where we were. She had seen us land and wanted to know if there was anything she could do to help. All this time we were expecting the weather to clear so that we would be able to continue the flight, but during the late afternoon it began to rain.

12 STOCKS AT NEW LOW
ON LOCAL EXCHANGE

International Shoe in Group That Slumps—No Extreme Fluctuations.

Twelve local issues hit new low prices in brisk trading today on the St. Louis Stock Exchange, when 16,599 shares were sold, the second to largest figure in local annals. Both International Shoe and International Shoe preferred hit new bottoms for the year, the former at 55 and the latter at 101.

The St. Louis Stock Exchange will be open tomorrow from 11 o'clock until 12:15, and will remain closed all day Friday and Saturday. It was announced this afternoon.

There were no extreme slumps today, the low stocks being off from $1 to $3.50 a share. Again the most active stock was Wagner Electric, with 3393 shares sold, closing at 26 1/4, or $1.50 a share below its closing yesterday when it reached its record low for the year of 25.

The new lows were: Bentley Chain Store, 190 shares sold, 13 1/2 down one; Brown Shoe Co., 50 shares sold, 38, down 3 1/4; Consolidated Lead, 200 shares sold, 7, down one; Globe-Democrat pref., 15 shares sold, 110, its previous low 112; International Shoe, 1557 shares sold, 55, down 1/4; International Shoe pref., 101, three points below its previous low of 104; Nicholas-Beazley, 25 shares sold, 10, its previous low 105; Rice-Stix, 2817 shares sold, 13 1/4, its previous low 14 1/4; Scullin Steel, 665 shares sold, 25, closed down one point at 26; Hamilton-Brown, 8 1/4; Independent Packing pref., 76; and Stix, Baer & Fuller, 25.

Ely-Walker was active with 2902 shares sold, closing at 28 1/4, a half point below its closing price yesterday. Other active stocks were Missouri Portland Cement, with 990 shares sold, and National Candy, with 1220. Missouri Pacific, which closed at 22 1/4 yesterday, bounded up 10 points today to close at 32.

Seventy-five shares of First National Bank stock were sold at 500, or $20 a share below yesterday. Roatman's Bank stock, yesterday at 210, climbed 15 points, closing at 225. Mississippi Merchants, last sold on Monday at 335, brought 320.

The record day was Nov. 27, last, when 17,982 shares were sold. Yesterday sales totaled 15,929. A total of 22,228 shares sold today and yesterday was a record for two consecutive days.

More Stock Buying Than Selling in St. Louis Brokers' Offices. Buying of stocks reputed to be sound on the basis of earnings, despite their recent slumping in the unsteady market, was marked in the crowded board rooms of St. Louis' brokerage offices today. For the first time since a messy market began to cause the unloading of stocks last Thursday, St. Louisans were buying rather than selling in the New York market.

Most of the orders placed were outright purchases at what market experts estimated bargain prices. On the side lines were many former speculators, who had been sold out.

Margins in St. Louis were quoted at from 30 to 55 per cent, depending on the account, cash being desired by the brokers rather than on the Federal Reserve. The brokers have dropped their margin rates to 25 per cent for their gilt-edged accounts.

While margins were higher in St. Louis than in New York, the record bank here remained 5 per cent.

AIR LINER'S PILOT
TELLS OF 27 HOURS
DOWN IN THE SNOW

Crew and Two Passengers Nearly Froze at Night in Drafty Shack, J. E. Doles Relates.

TWO STRAY; GUIDED BACK BY MOTORS

All Well, Ship Undamaged, On Arrival at Albuquerque After Being Forced Down by Storm.

By the Associated Press. ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 30.—Thirty hours overdue, the trim-towered Western Air Express plane which had been reported missing in the mountainous region along the Arizona-New Mexico border, arrived here yesterday afternoon, its five occupants well and the ship in perfect condition. It had been forced to land and wait out a snowstorm.

Pilot James E. Doles, with Allan C. Barrie, co-pilot; R. L. Britten, steward; Dr. A. W. Ward, San Francisco dentist, and W. E. Merz, Mount Vernon, N. Y., passengers, took off from Los Angeles Monday morning and headed east.

After a refueling stop in Arizona the plane ran into a terrific snowstorm which had not been reported. Thereafter, for more than 30 hours, there was no word. Officers of the company announced the plane "missing."

There was a gathering of company executives and the press in preparation for a search of the region where the plane was thought to be—the same region where recently a Transcontinental Air Transport liner crashed and burned, with loss of eight lives.

Rescue Planes Waiting. While rescue planes waited at the field here for a break in the weather their crews heard a motor roar overhead in the lazily falling snow. The noise indicated a circle, and then a large red and aluminum colored monoplane made a perfect landing. It was the missing ship. From its cabin five men emerged, one after another. Almost as one, they said, "We were just forced down by the snow, stayed out over night and then came on."

The plane had been forced down southeast of Trachada, N. M., which is 60 miles south of the regular course.

As they described the happenings, however, it was disclosed that the experience was not without the element of adventure. Two of the five men were out in search of shelter and lost their way. Pilot Doles, when the two did not return in a reasonable time, started the motors of the plane and this noise guided the wandering pair back to the plane as darkness fell.

Night Spent in Cabin. Consuming what food they had in the plane, the party later found a cabin nearby that had been noted in a ciling for a landing. The night was spent there before a fire.

Mrs. Beattie Mason, a woman living about five miles from where the plane landed, discovered the marooned men. She cooked them a meal of eggs, ham and biscuits. Along in the afternoon the weather cleared sufficiently for the big ship to take off from the small clearing in which it had descended.

The two passengers, both extensive flying experience, highly praised Doles' ability in bringing the plane down in the one small clearing visible, flanked on either side by canyons, lava beds, high timber and rough terrain.

Pilot Tells of Experience. A description of the snowstorm which forced down the plane and of the experience of the passengers was related by Pilot Doles, who had left Holbrook, flying east, and was about one hour out, he said, "when I had to dodge a storm, and turned toward St. Johns, Ariz. Suddenly the storm seemed to break over us all at once, and landing became a necessity."

INCOME TAX RETURNS SHOW HUGE

PROTECTED INDUSTRIES SINCE 1922

Head of the Tariff Lobbyists

JOSEPH R. GRUNDY.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN
FOUND SHOT DEAD
IN TOURISTS' CAMP

Body, Wrapped in Quilt, Left in Auto Near Nashville, Ill.—Victim Had St. Louis-Made Clothes.

APPARENTLY KILLED SOMEWHERE ELSE

Theory He Was Slain While in Shirt Sleeves—Pin With Initials U. S. N. May Be Clue.

Efforts were continued today to identify the body of a man, thought to be a St. Louisan, found shot to death and wrapped in a quilt in a stolen automobile abandoned at a tourist camp near Nashville, Ill., 50 miles east of St. Louis.

In the brush near the machine members of the Sheriff's party found an automobile license plate. It had been issued to a Hartford (Ill.) man, who was arrested at Wood River, where he worked as a painter, and held in jail there pending arrival of Sheriff Petri of Washington County. The man made no statement to Chief of Police Logan, who arrested him, other than to say that he had been in the vicinity of Nashville Saturday and Sunday but was not there Monday.

A fresh search for the foretold and two missing front teeth are expected to aid in identification. The man was about 35 years old, five feet, 10 inches tall, weighed about 165 pounds, had brown eyes, dark brown hair and uncalled-for hands, and wore a gray cap and suit and No. 8 shoes. His possessions included a gold pin with the letters U. S. N., which leads investigators to suppose the man formerly was in the Navy.

The body was found in a search of the car. It had been driven only 50 miles. When discovered at the tourist camp, the gasoline tank was nearly full.

The body is at a Nashville undertaking establishment. The cap was made in St. Louis and bore the trade mark "Famous Apple." The suit bore the label of David Adler & Sons Co., St. Louis. These firms sell their products throughout the nation.

Authorities say the man was shot to death while in his shirt sleeves, as no bullet holes were found in his coat or vest. The coat was on the body, but the vest was tossed in the car to one side.

The man had been abducted, killed and left at the tourist camp after death was indicated. There was no mud on the man's shoes, but the car's running board and front floor boards were muddy.

The man's name, Ray Martin and Wilbur McMillen, discovered the body. The automobile was observed parked in the camp about 200 feet back from State Highway No. 15 at 8 a. m. yesterday when two youths passed on their way into Nashville, a mile west, on a milk truck.

Returning at 3 p. m., their curiosity was aroused when they noticed the car in the same position. They stopped the truck to investigate and on finding the body returned to Nashville and notified Sheriff Petri.

There were bullet holes in the top of the head, abdomen and left side.

AMERICANS LIVING ON BULL MARKET HASTILY QUIT PARIS

Steamship Companies Report Heavy Booking of Passage to America.

By the Associated Press. PARIS, Oct. 30.—The break in prices in Wall Street and the consequent stock market losses are sending home a hurry many Americans who have been joyriding in Europe on paper profits.

The United States liner George Washington, which sails tomorrow, has a waiting list of twenty-five, and the Leviathan's next sailing is being rapidly booked.

Other steamship lines report the same condition, and many Americans who do not have to economize on cabins must wait two or three weeks to sail.

TREASURY FIGURES SENT TO SENATORS

Many Facts in Jealously Guarded Records Are Certain to Come Out in Tariff Debate.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—There is now in the possession of each of the 95 Senators of the United States (95 because the unhappy "Vare" is still on the outside) a closely printed volume of nearly 500 pages, containing the income tax returns of about 140 corporations affected by the pending tariff bill.

The information was obtained from the Treasury by the Finance Committee of the Senate for use in the tariff debate. It would not have been obtained if the Democrats and the insurgent Republicans, in one of their early victories in the tariff fight, had not put through the Simmons resolution, directing the Republican-controlled Finance Committee to ask the Treasury, under existing law, for such corporation income tax data as either the minority or the majority group of the committee might care to examine.

Immediately upon the passage of the Simmons resolution, the minority group put in a bid for the returns of a large number of tariff-protected corporations. Majority members countered with other lists, presumably with a view to showing that some industries had not been prosperous and needed increased protection.

Figures Jealously Guarded. The Treasury report now in hand contains the first installment of the returns called for. Other reports will follow.

Jealously guarding the Treasury data against outside inspection, Chairman Smoot of the committee, who opposed the Simmons resolution, arranged for the printing of a limited edition—only 125 copies—and restricted each Senator to one copy, for which either he or his authorized representative had to sign a receipt.

The law says that confidential income tax data may be obtained either by the Ways and Means Committee of the House or the Finance Committee of the Senate. It provides, however, against the publication of returns. The question, therefore, has arisen as to how far Senators may go in utilizing the information they have received. Debates on the question have indicated a difference of opinion. Some Senators feel that the data should be held in confidence; others think that they are within their moral and legal rights in using the information on the floor of the Senate, and they intend so to do.

More Will Come Out in Debate. Used on the floor of the Senate, the information will become available to the whole public through the Congressional Record and the newspapers. "Senators will be guided by their own judgment," said Senator Smoot. "In my opinion the information will be used on the floor whenever a case comes up in which it is particularly applicable."

Senator Simmons, the ranking minority member of the Finance Committee, expressed the opinion that the use of the data on the floor of the Senate would "absolutely not" be in violation of either the spirit or the letter of the law.

So the information will be used. It will come out piecemeal from time to time, as Senators find it pertinent to the discussion of tariff rates. Senator La Follette will use it. So will Senators Wlaine and Norris, and Wheeler, and others of the coalition who are battling against the Grundy-led rates of

THREE REPORTERS SENT TO JAIL FOR CONTEMPT

Refused to Tell Washington Grand Jury Where They Bought Liquor.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Three reporters for the Washington Times were sentenced today to 45 days each in jail by Judge Peyton Gordon in the District of Columbia Supreme Court for refusing to disclose to the grand jury the names and addresses of persons from whom they alleged they had purchased liquor.

In passing sentence for contempt of court, Judge Gordon told the three men, Gorman M. Hendricks, Linton Burckett and Jack E. Nevin Jr., that the questions asked them by the grand jury were entirely proper. The law, he said, did not recognize the ethics of the newspaper profession as sufficient grounds for a plea of immunity in such cases.

The men told the court they had bought liquor in 49 speakeasies in Washington. They explained they had gained admittance through friends, and that they had promised not to disclose the names of the bootleggers, asserting their only purpose in going to the speakeasies was to develop news stories relating to crime conditions in Washington. Hendricks testified that to comply with the jury's request would bring him and the other two reporters into disrepute.

Though sentenced for 45 days, the reporters face an indeterminate sentence, as they would be liable to another contempt action if they refuse to answer the questions at the end of their term. The Judge implied that the three might be freed before the expiration of their sentence if they answered the questions.

JUDGE WAS CHOSEN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The story of the famous Blackstone Hotel conference, at which the senators of the Republican party decided to nominate Warren G.
Harding for the Presidency of the United States in 1920, was told to the Senate's lobby investigating committee today by one of the conferees, Joseph R. Grundy.

Grundy, the head of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association was making his third appearance before the committee.

Questions about the conference
in the "smoke-filled room" at Chicago were part of a searching inquiry into Grundy's extensive lobbying activities and his remarkable success, through many years,
as a go-getter of Republican campaign funds. The aim of the majority of the committee has been to link the collection of funds with the granting of high tariff benefits as a reward to the subscribers.

Complicated by Being Invited.
Grundy was in the Chicago conference. He regarded it as a "great compliment" that the Senators who had met to decide the outcome of the Republican convention of 1920 should have called him
in.

It was on the Friday night of the convention, Grundy did not fix the hour, but the conference was late in the day—it has come to be known in political history as the "2 a. m. conference."

The late Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, chairman of the convention, opened the proceedings, said
the witness. Others present were
the late Senator Brandegee of Connecticut, the late Senator McCarthy of Illinois, former Senator Wadsworth of New York, former Senator Calder of New York, Senator Smoot of Utah and Senator Watson of Indiana, the present majority leader of the Senate. All these, at the time, were Senators of the United States.

In addition there were present
the late George Harvey, the editor,
who afterward became Ambassador to Great Britain, and Grundy. They were the only persons present who were not Senators.

Lodge Proposed Harding.
Lodge told them, said Grundy,
that on account of the public criticism aroused by the large campaign funds of Wood and Lowden,
who were then in a deadlock before the convention, it would be "ill-advised" to name either of them. Lodge had canvassed the field and decided that the most available man was Warren G.
Harding. Not much money had been spent for him, and he came from the pivotal state of Ohio. The weather was hot, the delegates were tired out and many of them had run out of money. The time had come to break the deadlock, said Lodge, and the man with whom to do it was Harding. The conferees agreed. In the next session of the convention, on Saturday, Harding was put over.

Members of the committee asked
sarcastically whether Fall or Sinclair or others of the group who figured later in the oil scandals of
the Harding regime were present.
Grundy said they were not. He did not think that Senator Curtis of Kansas, now the Vice President,
was in the meeting.

Wire to Penrose's Bedside.
Grundy, who was at the convention as one of the ruling forces of the Pennsylvania delegation, confirmed what has already become
known about the intense interest
of the late Senator Penrose, Republican boss of Pennsylvania in
the outcome of the balloting.

Senator Walsh asked if there
was not a private telephone wire
from the room of the late John
T. King, then the Republican National Committeeman for Connecticut, to the bedside of the sick boss
in Philadelphia. Grundy replied
readily that there was not only a
private telephone wire but a private telephone line. He said, however, that Penrose was too sick to
do any telephoning.

John T. King was the personal representative of Penrose at the convention. He died while under charges in connection with the alien property trust.

Supported Steel Tariff.
Senator Blaine (Rep.), Wisconsin, opened the session by questioning Grundy on the high tariff
on structural steel.

Blaine pointed out that much of

Grundy, a Power in Politics For 40 Years, Never Held Office

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 201-205 Kellogg Building.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.
JOSEPH R. GRUNDY of Bristol, Pa., head and front of the Washington tariff lobby, who startled the Senate investigating committee yesterday by declaring that the beneficiary states should have no hand in the legislation, has been a power in politics for 40 years, yet has never held public office. Although he could have almost any office in the gift of Pennsylvania, he prefers to work behind the scenes at Washington and Harrisburg.

The desire for the highest possible protective tariff has become an obsession with Grundy.
In his own mind he is positive that the whole American republic would go to pot if the present high rates were lowered. He is for a virtual embargo tariff, a Chinese wall that would exclude all competing imports.

Unlike most Washington lobbyists, Grundy spends his own money. He is rated as being worth between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000 and the $25,000 he has spent for the Hawley-Smoot bill really means nothing to him. He inherited a woolen mill at Bristol from his father,
but his real wealth and his political strength in Pennsylvania come from an insurance indemnity company.

Through the indemnity company, the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association maintains insurance policies under the name of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association. Grundy

is a friend of the farmer, said Blaine ironically, "you should try to get the duties on this product reduced."

Blaine estimated that the proposed increase on steel of 10 per cent would increase the burden of the consumer by $5,520,000, raising the total burden to $29,000,000.
"You won't be classified as a lobbyist if you do this," said Blaine,
"and you will be of great service to the Republican party."

Grundy remarked with his unfailing urbanity that he didn't need the help of Senator Blaine in suggesting that they had created a market for Pennsylvania products. Grundy admitted that there had been a "reciprocal" aid between the two sections.

Contending that the farmer was being well taken care of, Grundy pointed to the half billion dollar fund created by the Federal farm relief act. Grundy called this a "gift." Blaine said it was to be lent, not given.

The late Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, chairman of the convention, opened the proceedings, said
the witness. Others present were
the late Senator Brandegee of Con-

Members of the committee asked
sarcastically whether Fall or Sin-
clair or others of the group who
figured later in the oil scandals of
the Harding regime were present.
Grundy said they were not. He did
not think that Senator Curtis of Kansas, now the Vice President,
was in the meeting.

Wire to Penrose's Bedside.
Grundy, who was at the convention as one of the ruling forces of
the Pennsylvania delegation, confirmed what has already become
known about the intense interest
of the late Senator Penrose, Republican boss of Pennsylvania in
the outcome of the balloting.

Senator Walsh asked if there
was not a private telephone wire
from the room of the late John
T. King, then the Republican National Committeeman for Connecticut, to the bedside of the sick boss
in Philadelphia. Grundy replied
readily that there was not only a
private telephone wire but a private telephone line. He said, however, that Penrose was too sick to
do any telephoning.

John T. King was the personal
representative of Penrose at the convention. He died while under
charges in connection with the
alien property trust.

Supported Steel Tariff.
Senator Blaine (Rep.), Wiscon-
sin, opened the session by questioning Grundy on the high tariff
on structural steel.

State Workmen's Compensation
law. Grundy has a local manager for the company in every county in the state, and in some counties several. Every one of these insurance men is Grundy's personal political agent. Grundy is the political dictator of his congressional district and was powerful enough in national affairs to have Representative Henry W. Watson of that district placed on the House Ways and Means Committee. This committee handles all tariff matters for the House.

Grundy plays the political game for results. He sees but one thing in a fight, and that is victory. Costs, whether they mount into the millions, mean little to him.

In Bristol, he is looked upon as a philanthropist. A background of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, Grundy
lives in a big, old-fashioned house in Bristol, a village of about 11,000, with a mild sister of about his own age. He is 67 years old.

John T. King at Chicago to the bedside of Senator Penrose?
asked Walsh.

Grundy said there was a private telephone as well as a telegraph wire, but that Penrose was then too ill to talk by telephone.

Reverting to the discussion of the Pennsylvania judgeship at the Mayflower Hotel, Senator Borah brought out that the matter of the appointment had not been settled
prior to the meeting.

The witness said there was general agreement that if Senator Reed thought Watson was the most available man, he should recommend him.

The Blackstone meeting in Chicago was the famous 2 a. m. conference at which it was decided to break the then existing deadlock and nominate Warren G.
Harding for President. Grundy was there. He would not say that he was "elated" at the result, but he was glad to acquiesce in it.

Grundy was asked about his Pennsylvania interests. He said he had "a couple of million" invested in manufacturing plants there.
Caraway brought out that this investment under the state laws is exempt from taxation.

Caraway asked about the cash (about $250,000) found in a safety deposit box of Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania in Washington after his death. Grundy said the money went to Penrose's heirs, his brothers.

Questioned about campaign fund collections, Grundy said he had asked by Treasurer Nutt of the Republican National Committee of 1928 to help in this work. Grundy agreed to do so, but he wouldn't take the money. He went into a long manipulation in Pennsylvania, he said, because he felt that a "new face"
should be brought into the picture.

"Are you going to leave a fund
to establish a chair of lobbying in a university after your death?"
asked Caraway. Grundy said he wasn't "counting chickens before they were hatched." He added with a smile that if the stock market kept going down, there might be anything to leave.

Justifies Eyanston.
"Do you approve the placing of Eyanston in the secret meetings of the Senate Finance Committee?"
asked Caraway. C. L. Eyanston, assistant to the president of the Connecticut Manufacturers' Association, was employed as secretary
by Senator Bingham. "I think I do," said Grundy, after some hesitation. He went into a long lecture on tariff-making. In the course of it he mentioned the Mc-Kinley tariff bill.

"Was that bill made in the same way?" he was asked. He said that it was.

Grundy again expressed the wish that there were "a hundred Eyanstons" in Washington. He agreed that Eyanston was "helpful" in making the rates of the pending

bill.

"Do you think it was entirely
proper for a man on the payroll
of the Connecticut Manufacturers'
Association to be placed on the payroll of the Senate and taken into secret meetings of the Finance Committee?" he was asked.

Grundy replied that he didn't think those who took part in the proceedings looked on it in the
manner suggested by the question.
Caraway insisted on an answer to
his question and Grundy finally
said that he didn't see any "impropriety" in the Eyanston transaction.

Walsh asked if he had employed child labor in his factories. He answered yes, but declared he had not, to his knowledge, employed anyone below the legal minimum of 14 years. He said he had advocated the passage of a child labor
bill, raising the minimum, before the State Legislature at Harrisburg.

Grundy could see nothing wrong
in witnesses at a tariff hearing getting together in advance and "harmonizing" their views. Walsh replied that if Grundy engaged in that practice, they would be guilty of contempt of court.

A list of Republican campaign fund contributors in the eastern part of Pennsylvania was read, a list which the committee had procured from the Clerk of the House of Representatives—was shown to Grundy. This was the official report from the Republican National Committee of Eastern Pennsylvania, submitted under the Federal corrupt practices act.

Grundy said that all the money collected was sent to the treasurer of the national committee in Washington.

Walsh said he would go over the list and interrogate the witness about it later.

Meeting That Named Harding.
Again the Blackstone Hotel 2 a.
m. meeting was brought up. Walsh
read from a magazine article naming the conferees. Grundy was described as being a prominent business man of Pennsylvania.

Grundy said that the list as given was correct, to the best of his remembrance.

Grundy said he "appreciated the compliment" they were paying by having him at the conference. He said that Senator Lodge opened the proceedings, saying that the nomination of either Wood or Lowden was ill-advised.

"It was Friday evening," said Grundy, "and very hot. The money of many of the delegates had run out. Lodge said he had looked over the field and found that the most available man was Harding.
He said that the Republican party had never elected a candidate without the vote of Ohio. He said that for diverse reasons it was our business to go out and bring about the nomination of Warren G. Harding."

"Was Harry Sinclair there?" or Albert B. Fall? or Jake Hamon? or John T. King?" he was asked.
Grundy replied that he didn't know. There was present, nor to the best of his recollection, was Senator Curtis, now the Vice President.

Senator Borah made it clear, in questioning the witness, that the nomination of Wood or Lowden was regarded as "ill-advised" because of the great amount of money spent in their behalf.

Grundy replied that the statement of yesterday that Idaho was a "backward" state. He hammered the witness with figures showing a larger per capita expenditure for education in Idaho than in Pennsylvania, and a smaller crime rate.

Walsh went after the witness fiercely. He declared that Pennsylvania in proportion to population paid as much of the expense of the Government at Washington
as Pennsylvania.

Suggests Pennsylvania Secede.
It was suggested to Grundy that perhaps Pennsylvania would be better off if it seceded from the Union.
He replied by telling of the large part played by Pennsylvania in the Civil War.

"Yes," Caraway bitterly said, "you contributed more people to my state who stole everything that was loose than any other five states. You even stole the library of the Supreme Court."

Grundy said he had plenty of things "in his system" against Wisconsin. Among them was the failure of the Wisconsin delegates
at Cleveland to go along with the rest in making the nomination of Coolidge unanimous. Senator
Blaine remarked that his quarrel
was with the independent spirit of

bill.

"Do you think it was entirely
proper for a man on the payroll
of the Connecticut Manufacturers'
Association to be placed on the pay-
roll of the Senate and taken into
secret meetings of the Finance Committee?" he was asked.

think those who took part in the
proceedings looked on it in the
manner suggested by the question.
Caraway insisted on an answer to
his question and Grundy finally
said that he didn't see any "im-
action.

INTERNATIONAL UNION MEETING ON LABOR IN SOUTH

All Executives to Be Invited to Conference Which Is to Be Called Within a Few Days.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Heads of all international and national labor unions in the United States are to confer within the next three weeks on the labor situation in the South.

Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, said yesterday that William Green, president of the organization would issue his call to the officers in a few days.
With Green absent from this city,
it was reported the labor leaders would meet in some Southern city.

At the same time, the Executive Committee of the Pan-American Federation of Labor also headed by Green, announced the postponement of the sixth Pan-American Labor Congress, to have been held next January in Havana, Cuba.

The temporary delay was announced as due to "the heavy demands which will be made on the officers of the American Federation of Labor" by a special organizing campaign which has been started among the working classes in the South.

The coming conference of union officers was authorized Oct. 18 at the Toronto Labor convention.
While "all interested parties regardless of craft or calling" will take part, it is understood that the officers are mainly concerned with organization of the textile mill workers.

Executives of the Federation said
that less than 10 per cent of 300-570 textile workers in the South were members of the United Textile Workers of America.

Morrison and other federation
officers said that activities of Communist in textile centers, notably Elizabethtown, Tenn., and Gastonia, N. C., had impeded the work of organization of labor unions. The officers' conference is expected to discuss methods of combating radical activities.

It was said the development of new industries in the South had complicated organization work. They said that the South already is producing 63 per cent of the textiles manufactured in the United States, while the growth of furniture, cigarette, automobile, and fertilizer factories has added to the labor problem.

The labor movement in the South, said the statement, "finds itself confronted with one of the most gigantic campaigns ever put on by the employers to prevent organized labor from doing its duty."

Another Football Fatality.
By the Associated Press.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 29.— Frank Murphy, 16 years old, was killed in football scrimmage of the St. Rosalia high school team here yesterday.

Grundy again denied that there was telephonic communication between the Blackstone conference at Chicago and the late Senator Penrose. He was asked if Harry Daugherty, Harding's manager, was present, and answered in the negative.

Caraway reminded him of his promise to prepare a "preferred
list of Senators," and the witness said he would do so. "I always keep my promises," he said.

The committee adjourned to meet again at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Grundy said he had plenty of
things "in his system" against Wisconsin. Among them was the
failure of the Wisconsin delegates
at Cleveland to go along with the
Coolidge unanimous. Senator
Blaine remarked that his quarrel
was with the independent spirit of

bill.

"Do you think it was entirely
proper for a man on the payroll
of the Connecticut Manufacturers'
Association to be placed on the pay-
roll of the Senate and taken into
secret meetings of the Finance Committee?" he was asked.

think those who took part in the
proceedings looked on it in the
manner suggested by the question.
Caraway insisted on an answer to
his question and Grundy finally
said that he didn't see any "im-
action.

Bankers Feel Crisis Is Past.
Wall Street's leading bankers felt today that the crisis was past and conditions distinctly improved. It was learned after another conference at the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co.

Several representatives of the banking group which has labored to preserve the orderliness of the security markets during the stanpede of selling and crashing prices of the last few days, stopped at the Morgan offices for an informal discussion, and while no formal statement was issued, a spokesman for the group said that reports were more cheerful.

Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City Bank; Seward Prosser, president of the Bankers' Trust Co.; George F. Baker Jr., of the First National Bank, and Thomas W. Lamont of the Morgan firm, were among the bankers
meeting to discuss the situation.

They were joined also by Owen D.
Young, chairman of the General Electric Co. The atmosphere cleared considerably throughout banking circle with the apparent checking of the collapse of the stock market.

The heads of several investment trusts and trading companies stated that they were accumulating stocks,
and investment bankers indicated that Wall Street had withstood the shock remarkably well.

Waddill Catchings, president of the Goldman Sachs Trading Corporation, stated that the huge group of Goldman Sachs-Harrison

Williams Investment Trusts had at no time pursued an investment policy which made their success dependent upon temporary stock market conditions. He added that they had at no time borrowed more than a nominal amount to carry on their operations. Investment companies, which have pursued a similar policy, he continued, have nothing under existing conditions to disturb them, but are able to take advantage of existing prices
to add to their holdings.

Investment Trusts Buying.
Investment trusts and trading corporations have been heavy buyers of stock in the last two days, estimates of these purchases ranging from $350,000,000 to $500,000, 000. These securities are purchased outright.

Due largely to the unprecedented
volume of stock trading yesterday,
the New York Clearing House today reported record-breaking clearings of $3,500,000,000, which contrasts with the previous record of $3,024,000,000 on Jan. 2, 1929.

Delivery time on securities bought and sold in yesterday's record-breaking market was extended from 2:15 to 4 p. m. today.

CONVICTIONS IN 3
OF 4 ARSON TRIALS
SO FAR THIS YEAR

In Most Recent Case, Shoe Man Gets Three Years for Firing Store at 4414 Natural Bridge.

NONE FOUND GUILTY
FOR SEVEN YEARS

Such Was St. Louis Record Early in 1929 When New Circuit Attorney Took Office.

Before Circuit Attorney Franklin Miller took office the first of this year, there had been a period of seven years during which no conviction for arson had been obtained in a St. Louis court although many such cases had been tried.

So far this year, four arson cases have been tried with only one acquittal. The third conviction was obtained yesterday when a Circuit Court jury found Nathan Rudman guilty of second degree arson in setting fire to his shoe store at 4414 Natural Bridge avenue, April 23, 1928. He received the minimum penalty, three years in the State Penitentiary. The maximum is seven years. Rudman will appeal.

Denies He Removed Stock.

Testifying in his own defense, Rudman denied testimony of State witnesses that he had removed stock from his store just before the fire. He asserted he was the only person in the store the night of the fire and that he left about half an hour before the fire broke out.

However, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Greenknecht, who own the building, and reside upstairs, testified they saw Rudman and another man carry away bundles from the store less than five minutes before four explosions were heard.

As to shoe boxes, Assistant Fire Chief Al Toffe testified the fire was "peculiar" and smelled of gasoline.

Summary of the Cases.

All four arson trials this year have been prosecuted by Assistant Circuit Attorney John L. Sullivan. Results in the first three were as follows:

Feb. 19—Henry Fred, accused of firing his home at 5055A Vernon avenue; acquitted on directed verdict when court sustained demurrer to sufficiency of evidence.

Feb. 21—Max Berkowitz, convicted of setting fire to his shoe store and home at 1048 Hodiament avenue; three years.

March 11—James E. White, convicted of setting fire to his restaurant at 2743 Olive street; five years.

Glencoe Dance Hall Owner Is Acquitted of Murder

Elisha Brockman Killed Barge Hand After He Had Thrown Bottles Near Daughter.

Elisha Brockman, 41 years old, was acquitted of first degree murder by a jury in Circuit Judge Mulroy's court at Clayton today following his trial for the fatal shooting of Frank Drenning, 51, Jeddburgh hand, Sept. 9, 1928, in Brockman's dance hall at Glencoe, St. Louis County.

Defense witnesses testified that Brockman killed Drenning after the latter, in a drunken rage, had thrown several bottles in Brockman's place, narrowly missing the proprietor's small daughter. The jury deliberated 45 minutes.

Brockman was indicted last fall by a special grand jury shortly after a coroner's verdict of self-defense had been returned. Recently he was found not guilty of a liquor law charge.

HUGE INCREASES IN

The pending bill and the Fordney-McCumber act.

From $90,000 to $1,660,000.

They have found in the document a wealth of ammunition with which to assault the rates on steel, aluminum ware, chemicals and other industrial products.

The chemical industry, which is seeking now to be kept on an American valuation basis, appears to have been enormously profitable. For example, there is a chemical manufacturing concern whose taxable profit of about $90,000 in 1922 increased to about $1,660,000 in 1928. The taxable profit is that remaining after all the deductions allowed by the law—deductions for the compensation paid to officers, for rent, repairs, interest and taxes paid; depreciation, depletion, etc.

Then there is one of the great corporations of the United States, whose manufacturing business netted it, after deductions, $12,000,000 in 1922 and $63,000,000 in 1928.

(In this and all the following comparisons, round figures are given, and the profits named are the profits "according to the books," after the allowable deductions have been taken).

Doubled in Six Years.

The profits of an Ohio corporation show an ascending curve from $2,300,000 in 1922 to $4,800,000 in 1928.

An east coast company reported a loss of $27,000 in 1922, but a profit of $250,000 in 1928.

An Illinois company paid taxes on $180,000 in 1922, and six years later on three times that sum.

A New York stockholding company showed an increase from $31,000,000 to $45,000,000 in the same period.

A Missouri concern's modest profit of $50,000 in 1922, became over $1,000,000 six years later.

Some Striking Examples.

An Illinois company made $406,000 in 1922. Six years later it made $2,700,000. One of the giants in its field ran up its taxable net income from $40,000,000 in 1922 to $114,000,000 in 1928. A smaller concern, in Illinois, showed a jump from $1,000,000 to $10,000,000. Another of the big ones had to be content with $4,500,000 in 1922, but in 1928 it paid taxes on nearly $16,000,000.

An Illinois manufacturing enterprise showed a gain from $1,700,000 to $2,700,000.

One of the large companies in its line of business converted a substantial loss in 1922 into a profit of 1928 have taken an article off the free list and made it dutiable, on the plea that the industry needs protection. They will probably be asked to explain the rising prosperity of one of the great American concerns manufacturing that article which made $2,600,000 in 1922 and more than $4,000,000 six years later.

An outstanding instance of growing profits is afforded by the statistics on one of the behemoths among American protected corporations. It had a net loss of some $1,000,000 in 1922. In that year was enacted the Fordney-McCumber tariff, of which this concern was one of the conspicuous beneficiaries. The next year, 1923, it had a taxable profit of several million dollars, and by 1928 the profit had grown to almost $20,000,000. This was the taxable balance after it had taken its deductions from a gross income of around $45,000,000.

In Bingham's State.

A manufacturing concern in the home State of Senator Bingham ran a paltry $150,000 profit to over $1,000,000. The tax maker of 1928 have taken an article off the free list and made it dutiable, on the plea that the industry needs protection. They will probably be asked to explain the rising prosperity of one of the great American concerns manufacturing that article which made $2,600,000 in 1922 and more than $4,000,000 six years later.

Boys, 12 and 14, Admit They Robbed 10 Garages

Thefts of Tools and Batteries Near Jefferson Avenue and Hebert Street.

Two boys, 12 and 14 years old, arrested yesterday by police, admitted 10 burglaries of garages in the neighborhood of Jefferson avenue and Hebert street, in which tools and batteries were taken. Property was recovered from the home of one boy by Henry Schlake, 2536 Hebert, and John Boss, 2538 Hebert.

HEAD OF GRAPE JUICE FIRM HELD ON DRY CHARGES

William Davis, President of Colony Vintages Co., Defendant in Recent $100,000 Suit, Accused.

William Davis, president of the Colony Vintages Co., which was defendant in the $100,000 grape juice damage suit which attracted nationwide attention last July, was charged with sale and possession of intoxicating liquor following a raid by Federal prohibition agents at the company's headquarters, 18 South Broadway, yesterday afternoon.

According to Deputy Prohibition Administrator Dillon, some of the Colony grape juice developed its "kick" before it was delivered for "cultivation" in the basements of purchasers. It is also charged that Davis sold prohibition agents a cheap substitute for whiskey and dealt in various concoctions for making raw alcohol taste like "the real stuff."

Dillon is holding, as evidence, samples of Jamaica ginger which, he said, tested 51.10 per cent alcohol by volume, and samples of "grape juice" which tested above the legal limit of one-half of one per cent, some as high as 9 per cent alcohol.

Davis appeared today at the Federal Building and gave $1000 bond. His lawyer told reporters that the whole sale drug business as a side-line was distributing Jamaica ginger for medicinal purposes.

Since Federal Judge Davis dismissed the grape juice case because it involved "an unlawful plan of manufacturing intoxicating liquors," Dillon has been quietly investigating the activity of the Colony company. An agent who described himself as a country storekeeper seeking something with a "kick" that he could sell to thirty customers, bought three gallons of Jamaica ginger, or "Jake," from Davis for $4.50 a gallon on three occasions, Dillon said.

According to Dillon, the "Jake" was of inferior quality as measured by Government standards. The proportion of alcohol, he said, was high, while the quantity and quality of ginger was low, making the liquid more palatable as a beverage.

With a search warrant, based on the purchases of "Jake," the raiders found a quantity of "woodentine," shavings from the inside of old whiskey barrels mixed with glycerin; some one-ounce bottles of Bourne's flavoring extract; and a quantity of extract labeled "tutti frutti" of high alcoholic content. "Woodentine," it was explained, is mixed with alcohol and water to make whiskey and serves as a substitute for the aging process.

The recent grape juice trial grew out of a damage suit against the Colony company by the West Coast Vineyards Co. of Chicago, which alleged that Colony grape juice failed to develop the proper alcoholic potency in customers' basements. The Colony company was prepared, when the case was dismissed, to present a letter from United States Senator Arthur R. Gould of Maine, who wrote that he had obtained "some very fair results."

ALCOHOL CARGO
SEIZED IN LAUNCH

Occupant, Found Asleep in Craft Near Herculaneum, Says Liquor Was Destined for St. Louis.

A 30-foot launch containing 550 gallons of alcohol in tin cans was seized near Herculaneum, Mo., 25 miles south of St. Louis, by a Deputy Sheriff, who found the craft moored to the bank and its occupant asleep at 5 p. m. yesterday.

The man in the boat said he was George Hall, 35 years old, Valmeyer, Ill. He told Deputy Sheriff John Dugan, who arrested him, that he was to receive $50 for delivery the cargo at St. Louis to a man named Murphy.

Hall declared he did not know who owned the boat or where the alcohol was made. He said it was delivered to the boat on the Illinois side of the river near Valmeyer yesterday. After completing part of the journey Hall said he tied up the craft and went to sleep to await nightfall before completing the trip. Deputy Sheriff Dugan chanced to see the craft and, on investigating, found the cans of alcohol stowed in compartments in the bow and stern.

Hall was placed in jail at Herculaneum and will be prosecuted in the State Court on a charge of illegal transportation of liquor, authorities announced. The alcohol, according to Hall, is of good quality. He said the cargo was to have been transferred to trucks at St. Louis.

PLEADS GUILTY AFTER TRIAL

STARTS, GETS NINE YEARS

William Murphy, Ex-Convict, Sentenced to Prison for Two Burglaries.

William Murphy, three-time ex-convict, changed his mind about standing trial after the jury had been selected yesterday in Judge Taylor's Court and, instead, accepted nine years in the penitentiary on two charges of burglary and larceny. A third charge was dismissed in consideration of the plea of guilty.

Murphy, when arrested, was living at 4236 Westminster place. He admitted having committed burglaries at the homes of John Englehauser, 6012 Enright, April 29, last, when a shotgun, a camera and electric flashlight were taken, and the residence of Otto Cornick, 2929 Ohio avenue, Oct. 17, where he took a radio and two wrist watches, valued at $165.

Nobel Saul, who lived at the same address as Murphy, was accused with him of the burglaries. These charges were dismissed because of insufficient evidence.

DROP MAKES SOME STOCKS DESIRABLE,
EXPERT DECLARES

L. L. Blake of Standard Statistics Co., Asserts Nobody Can Tell How Long Stampede Will Last.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—"We do not pretend to say that the bottom has been reached, but the market for selected investment stocks is now in a buying zone, and the investor need not hesitate to buy stocks that show a reasonable income return at present prices and show promise of maintaining their earning power over a period of years."

So Luther L. Blake, president of the Standard Statistics Co., whose publications have been consistently bearish in recent weeks, yesterday appraised the stock market situation from the standpoint of the man with money to invest.

"To the speculator," he continued, "the only thing one can say is that many stocks are cheap if he has the ability to carry them through." General business is on a sounder basis than in any previous time of crisis in Wall Street.

"There is nothing in the picture that now indicates a major depression in business. The fact is that we have been having a business boom of the widest proportions. Over a long term of years the average increase in the volume of goods produced in the country has been 3 per cent a year. In 1928 the volume increased 9 per cent over that of 1927. Production for the first nine months of 1929 is 18 per cent above that of 1927."

"Since mid-summer there has been a moderate recession. The first evidence of it came when building began to slow down and mortgage money was almost unobtainable. That was in late August and early September. Since then the volume of business has apparently been slowly declining. The present situation will tend to accentuate this for perhaps three to six months."

"But this will not be another 1921. There is now no stringency of money for legitimate business."

Reason for Decline. "What has happened is that for a considerable period stock prices had been rising out of all proportion to earnings, which in the last analysis must be the determinant of prices. Thus, in the 18 months up to Sept. 14, when the stock market reached its peak, earnings advanced at an annual rate of about 20 per cent, while stock prices advanced at the rate of approximately 40 per cent a year."

"For a considerable time money has been going into the market instead of into production. This is shown by the deposits subject to check in Federal Reserve banks. In 1928 there was $470,000,000 of such deposits. By 1929 this had grown to $5,250,000,000. Last Oct. 7 this vast reservoir had shrunk to $2,750,000,000. The money had largely gone into the stock market in the form of call loans. The volume is practically intact."

Not Another 1921.

"This situation is not comparable to 1921 for several reasons. In the first place, there has been no excess accumulation of stocks of goods in the hands of manufacturers or jobbers, nor has there been commodity price inflation. In the next place, the corporations which have been lending to retailers in the street and whose vast balances are intact are able to finance themselves. Again, money which has been loaned by outsiders in Wall Street is now available for general corporation and mercantile purposes."

"Most of the loans in the street have not come from the banks but from corporations—so-called loans for the account of others."

"Now the banks will undoubtedly begin to take over these loans, leaving this money free for investments. There is no place for it to go but the investment market, in which there now appears for the first time in months the field incentive."

"So far as the market itself is concerned, we cannot tell how far it will go. No one can tell how long a stampede will last."

INSURANCE OF ZEPPELIN MEN INCREASED FOR POLAR FLIGHT

This, and Wage Advance, Overcomes Objections of Crew to Trip.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Oct. 30.—The Zeppelin works has dispelled the main objections of the crew of the Graf Zeppelin against the Polar flight projected for next spring by increasing life and accident insurance and wages and by guaranteeing hygienic improvements.

The dirigible, after a commercial flight to Frankfurt-on-Main on Nov. 6 will be thoroughly overhauled. It is then expected near the end of November to make an extensive trial flight over Sweden and Norway to try out new meteorological apparatus. Throughout its flight over the Arctic regions the Graf Zeppelin daily will send by radio authentic weather reports to American and Norwegian stations.

Seeks Her Mother. 80. Mrs. May Bouchard, 944 Hamilton avenue, has asked police to assist in finding her mother, Mrs. Anna Ausmeyer, 80 years old. Mrs. Bouchard said she and her mother became estranged over financial matters last May and she has not heard from her since.

Find Five Boys Slain.
By the Associated Press.
SOFIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 30.— Newspapers say that a village named Angueloff, living at Vassillevski, found five boys hacked to pieces when he went with food to where they had been tending sheep.

There was no trace of their as-

WOMEN GOOD LOSERS,
STOCKBROKERS AVER

Thousands of Them, Unmoved, Watch Ticker Wipe Out
Their Investments.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—That old saw about women being poor losers
seems about to be downed forever.

The women who play Wall Street,
thousands of them, massed in their brokers' offices yesterday, keeping their eyes on the illuminated ticker. With each halt and jerk of the narrow ribbon, upon which their fortunes were being told with greater finality than any seer could deal the cards, the women
kept their seats in silence.

No hysteria, no frantic shouts to sell, no rushing back and forth, no last minute consultations with brokers. Stolidly they sat and watched their investments fade.

Occasionally they turned and in a hushed voice observed to some neighbor: "Well, that cleans out my Steel," or, "There goes our trip to Europe." Beyond that, to a casual onlooker, there was no hint of tragedy.

"They're always this way now,"
a broker explained. "Women are good gamblers; they take it with a smile. It was pretty bad at first.
Last Thursday we had women customers faint and become hysterical. But it was the suddenness of the onslaught. Men took it just as hard then, only they don't go to pieces so quickly. Now the women are accustomed to the landslide in the market, and accept it with as much surface equanimity
as the men."

Half a dozen of the uptown brokerage offices have separate rooms and boards for women. In the Park avenue and East Fifty-seventh street women's rooms of De Saint-Phalle & Co., an attendant is always on hand with smelling salts—sprinkled yesterday, the attendant admitted. Usually a retiring room adjoins the women's board room. It's there so that feminine buyers and sellers who need medical care can be removed and treated without arousing the curious fears among the other women.
Again, this is an unnecessary luxury, brokers said.

"As customers women are more uncertain than men," several brokers agreed. "They seek more advice; they sit and murmur. 'Shall I sell or shall I hang on?' They grasp at rumors more quickly than men; they go through a greater agony of indecision in crucial moments. In the last crashing week
I would say they have suffered more from the mental strain than have men. And, lastly, they sit and figure endlessly on little slips of paper—their profits and their losses. Men either figure in their heads or say to themselves, with a shrug as did that man over there who lost $500,000 an hour ago:
'What's the use of multiplying and subtracting as you go along? My system is not to think of the total until the day is over.'"

Most of the women who fill the brokers' offices are past 50; women with graying hair. They look half and half—dowagers and young school teachers; those who have money with which to gamble and those who are staking their life savings for that little chicken ranch
"when I am old."

DEPARTMENT OF INTERIOR

VETOS RIO GRANDE COMPACT

Wilbur Declares Proposal Before

Senate Committee Doesn't Protect United States.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The Interior Department has disapproved the proposed Rio Grande compact being considered by the Senate Irrigation Committee.

Secretary Wilbur notified the committee his department did not sanction it because the commission which formed the compact failed to apportion the Rio Grande waters

among Colorado, New Mexico and Texas, the states party to the proposal.

The department also disapproved

the compact because under its

terms the Federal Government would have to pay any claims made by Mexico as a result of any agreement entered into by the three states.

The proposal as now before the Senate committee, the Secretary said, also would require the United States Government to build a drainage canal in the San Luis Valley, New Mexico, and build other reclamation projects without any provision made for the Federal Government to be reimbursed for the work. He held this was contrary to the regulations in the reclamation act and would set a precedent which he did not feel should be set.

All the Family is Included

When you decide to own this Newest, Greatest Encyclopaedia Britannica

TO EVERY American home this completely new Encyclopaedia Britannica brings the limitless possibilities of modern knowledge. Just published at a cost of $2,000,000, this new Britannica is already going into thousands of homes,
and enthusiasm is sweeping the country.

For young and old alike, for every wide-awake American this new work opens the door to new and wider opportunities. It is the key to culture and progress, the one indispensable aid to success.

For the Whole Family

Cast aside your old ideas of reference works, for here is something new and different, a modern knowledge book, built for this new age and designed for every member of the family. Everything you want to know is here, everything you require for true advancement.

A Complete Library
with 15,000
Superb Illustrations

For parents and children alike
the pages of this superb work are a great adventure. It gives to every father and mother the latest, most authoritative word on every subject. It provides children with an inexhaustible store of fascinating, broadening knowledge, makes school work easier, more interesting and more profitable.

The pictures alone are an endless treasure-house of interest and education. Here is a unique gallery of art and nature and science.

Volcanoes, machinery, pyramids;
marvelous color plates of flowers,
birds, precious jewels and famous paintings—these are only a few of the 15,000 superb illustrations!

No other book has ever been illustrated on so vast a scale. This supreme work is a complete library
in itself, the equivalent of 500
ordinary books on every conceivable subject.

3,500 Expert Contributors

Here is all the world's knowledge in language you can readily grasp—
"humanized" but authoritative;
practical and concise, yet comprehensive and complete.

The 3,500 expert contributors are a roll call of the great and famous of all the world.

Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Points out need for New Britannica in every home

DR. CADMAN, Known to Millions
Through his Writings and Radio Talks, says:—"Sixty-six thousand unanswered questions in my own files, and hundreds of thousands more which I have attempted to answer are a revelation of the crying need for even primary knowledge. The majority need not be sent to me if a copy of the new Encyclopaedia Britannica can be placed in every household in the land."

PROFESSOR WILLIAM LYON PHELPS, of Yale University—"Every household containing these volumes is in contact with the life of today more intimately than by the radio."

CHICAGO TRIBUNE—"You really want to read it."

ST. LOUIS GLOBE-DEMOCRAT—"The biggest new thing under the sun... is the fourteenth edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica."

NEW YORK TIMES BOOK REVIEW—"The new Britannica represents a magnificent achievement in organized intellectual effort
... Whoever makes it a part of his possessions can rest assured that its equal does not exist."

NEW YORK SUN—"By all odds the finest encyclopaedia in English, if not in any language, and a work on which our age
may pardonably pride itself."

Remember this is a NEW work! Only a small amount of text that could not be improved in any way has been retained from previous editions.

MAKESHIFT QUARTERS FOR TWO NEW JUDGES

J. T. Fitzsimmons and Arthur Bader May Use Old Jury Room and Chambers.

The city will have a judicial housing problem when the two new Circuit Judges, who have been appointed by Gov. Caulfield under the provisions of a law passed by the last Legislature, take office Dec. 1. The new Judges are John T. Fitzsimmons, a Democrat, appointed by the Governor yesterday afternoon, and Arthur Bader, Republican, whose promotion from the Court of Criminal Correction bench to that of the Circuit Court was announced several days ago.

There is no expectation now that the new Courthouse will be ready for the Judges by Dec. 1, or soon after that time. Circuit Clerk Schmoll, who has the task of finding quarters for the courts, is considering a plan to provide two new courtrooms on the second floor of the old Courthouse on Broadway.

One of these is the good-sized room now used by Judge Killoren as his chambers; the other is a combination of two adjoining jury rooms. It is the intention of the Circuit Judges that the new appointees shall first take up the work of hearing exceptions in condemnation cases for bond issue improvements. Judge Hall has made a beginning in hearing the exceptions in the Market street widening, and Judge Peary is hearing exceptions in the Gravois avenue widening case. The Memorial Plaza exceptions and those in some other important cases await the new Judges.

The new Judges will serve until after the election of November, 1930. Their selection increases the number of St. Louis Circuit Judges from 16 to 18, of whom 14 are Republicans and 4 are Democrats.

Under the law creating the new positions, the Governor was required to name one of each party. Fitzsimmons is 59 years old, a graduate of St. Louis University in the class of 1890, and a former newspaper reporter. He studied law while doing newspaper work. He served as deputy coroner under Dr. R. M. Funkhouser, and as chief deputy circuit clerk under W. H. Hauschulte. He was admitted to the bar in 1907. In 1922 he was one of the Democratic nominees for the circuit bench. He is a director of the Tower Grove Bank, and was one of its organizers. Circuit Clerk Schmoll, one of his associates in the bank, endorsed him for appointment, as did State Senator Kinney and other Democrats.

Workhouse Laundry Head Dies. William J. Mahon, superintendent of the laundry at the city workhouse, collapsed when he arrived for work today. He was dead when taken to city hospital. Mahon was 57 years old. He lived at 4371 Maryland avenue.

INQUIRY DISCLOSES 16 WERE DROWNED ON LAKE STEAMER

Purser Testifies at U. S. Investigation — Wisconsin Carried 75 Four of Them Passengers

By the Associated Press.
KENOSHA, Wis., Oct. 29.—Sixteen men lost their lives when the steamer Wisconsin sank in a storm yesterday, it was determined today by the testimony of Harvey Lyon, purser of the ship, at a Federal investigation.

Lyon testified that there were 71 members of the passenger-freight ship crew and four passengers, 75, as the total number aboard. Of the 16 dead, nine bodies have been recovered. Fifty-nine persons were rescued, 19 of them with injuries or suffering from exposure.

The Federal Government, the county and the Goodrich Steamship Co. joined today in an investigation into the sinking of the Wisconsin. Fred J. Meno, supervising inspector of the Federal Steamship Inspection Office of Detroit, has charge of the inquiry for the Government.

A preliminary survey last night gave rise to several questions, answers to which may help in placing responsibility for the wreck. It was pointed out that the boat was less than an hour out from Kenosha Harbor when it first began sending out distress signals; there were lifeboats and life preservers for all; and the radio was working up to a short time before the vessel was abandoned.

The Wisconsin was inspected and pronounced seaworthy Sept. 17, last. It had sailed the lakes in all kinds of weather for 48 years, and was regarded as one of the staunchest of lake craft. The cargo of merchandise which went down with the ship was valued at $300,000. The ship itself was worth $100,000.

Sinking of the Wisconsin was the second lake tragedy of a week in the same region. The car ferry Milwaukee, went down off Racine, Wis., Oct. 22, with a loss of 38 lives.

FREED ON HOSPITAL ALIBI OF CHECK-PASSING CHARGE

Mrs. Margaret Guy, identified by witnesses, shows she was in St. John's at time.

On evidence that she was in St. John's Hospital at the time following an operation for appendicitis, a jury in Circuit Judge Hamilton's court yesterday found Mrs. Margaret Guy, 2901 Lafayette avenue, not guilty of passing a bad check.

Mrs. Guy, also charged under the name of Margaret Silvy, was identified by persons who accepted bad checks in five different instances. All said they were certain she was the check passer, and as a result five warrants were issued. The other cases have gone over to Nov. 12.

Mrs. Guy was charged with giving a worthless check to Mrs. Olive Hartig, confectioner at 2734 Lafayette avenue. The check-passer, a woman, purchased a cake and received $25 in change on a purported payroll check of the Artistic Furniture Co. A representative of the concern pronounced the check spurious.

Mrs. Guy is a sister of Edgar Silvy, now serving a life sentence for his participation in the shooting to death of Police Sgt. Woody several years ago. She is 32 years old.

FIVE INDICTED IN LIQUOR INQUIRY IN WASHINGTON

Four Men and Woman Accused on Evidence Obtained by Tapping of Wires.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Four men and a woman were indicted here yesterday on evidence obtained by Federal agents listening to telephone conversations in which they were alleged to have conspired to bring liquor into the country without paying customs duties.

The indictment charges transportation of "whisky, champagne, wine, gin and beer" from a boat in the Atlantic to Washington and Baltimore.

Telephone conversations were intercepted in which the Rev. Michael and Julian Tilton, William W. Keeler, Walter Keener and David Tavan, were alleged to have discussed the purchase and transportation of liquor.

The alleged conspiracy dates back to Jan. 1 and their talks were said to have revealed plans for the purchase of the liquor at Atlantic Highlands, N. J., and its movement to Washington.

CORONER'S VERDICT FAILS TO NAME TEACHER'S SLAYER

Boy Says Man Accused Negro Woman of Whipping His Child and Stabbed Her

A coroner's verdict of homicide by persons unknown was returned today in the death of Miss Blanchette Davis, Negro teacher at the Crow School, who was stabbed fatally Sunday night at Leffingwell avenue and Dixon street. Andrew Lewis, 11-year-old Negro, said he heard a Negro man, who was accompanied by a woman, accuse the teacher of whipping his boy and then saw him stab her and run away.

Detective Lieutenant John Carroll said the only clue was a woman's compact found 19 feet from where the teacher fell.

KILLED BY FALL OF SLATE

Alvin Trieweller, 40, Fatally Crushed in Belleville Mine.

Alvin Trieweller, 40 years old, was fatally injured yesterday when he was caught under about three tons of slate which fell in the Oak Hill Mine on West Main street, Belleville. He died two hours later in a Belleville hospital. Trieweller is survived by a widow and two children.

WOMAN ROBBED WHILE NAPPING AFTER MOVING

Mrs. May Haystrom Reports Loss of $500 Rings and $3 in Cash.

Tired after moving yesterday evening, Mrs. May Haystrom took a nap at her new home, 3437 Clark avenue. She awoke at 8:30 p. m. to find that three diamond rings valued at $500 and $45 in cash had been taken from one of her stockings, and that an automatic pistol was missing from a table drawer.

"You must have been playing the market," a robber told Arthur Bates, grocer at 2247 Scott avenue, when he found only $3 in the cash register when he held Bates up yesterday evening.

A $50 diamond ring was taken from Mrs. Raymond Novak, wife of a butcher at a Kroger store at Walton and Kensington avenues, by a robber who obtained $100 from the cash register at 5:45 p. m. yesterday. A Kroger store at 5900

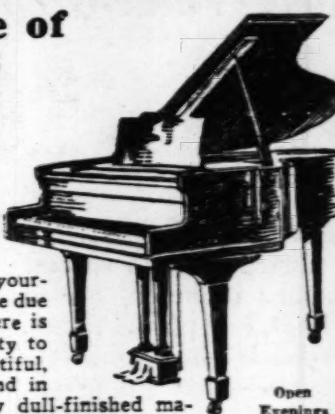

Wabada avenue was held up an hour earlier and robbed of $35. Walter Schachmeyer, clerk in a drug store at 5201 Michigan avenue, reported he was held up for $57 last night.

SENATOR NORRIS ASKS NEBRASKA TO RE-ELECT HIM

Asserts Recent Events Demand He Continue Fight for "Fundamental Principles of Government."

PLANNED TO RETIRE
IN MARCH, 1931

Progressive Expects Ex-Gov. McKelvie or Some Other "Administration" Candidate to Be Opponent

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—In a striking declaration of political independence, addressed to the people of Nebraska, Senator George W. Norris, Progressive Republican of that state, announced last night that he would run for another term.

In his statement announcing his intention to run for a fourth term, Norris said he had planned to retire in March, 1931, but that recent political events had made it imperative that he abandon this purpose. He could not do otherwise, he said, than accept the challenge of those who had declared war against the "fundamental principles of government" for which he had stood during his quarter-century in the House and the Senate.

Excerpts from Statement.

His statement in part was as follows:

"It is now quite clear that Nebraska is to be singled out in the coming senatorial primary campaign as one of the chief battle grounds for the control of the United States Senate. For that purpose a virtual alliance has been formed between the old guard stand-pat machine inside the State and those who control that machine from the outside. The avowed purpose of this combination is to weaken and discredit progressive principles of government by driving me out of public life, and securing the nomination and election of a Senator from Nebraska who will be subservient to the political machine and its bosses both inside and outside the State, and who at all times can be trusted to be regular."

"My opponent in this contest has already been elected in the person of Mr. McKelvie. This has been apparent ever since he was named by the President on the new Farm Board, and recent developments, including statements made by McKelvie himself, make it plain that he is to be the candidate, representing the administration, or if for any reason it is later decided he is not the most available man, another candidate will be substituted for him."

"The announcement of this scheme constitutes a direct challenge, not so much against me personally as against the fundamental principles of government for which I have fought, and if I failed to accept this challenge, it seems to me I could be charged with political cowardice and with a failure to do my full duty as a citizen when the principles of a free and democratic government are at stake. Contrary to my desire, therefore, I have decided that I have no choice but to accept this challenge."

Outlines His "Doctrine."

"For a quarter of a century, in the House of Representatives and the Senate, I have put into practice the conviction that only by independent, nonpartisan and outspoken conduct can a legislator accomplish anything of enduring value in the public interest. Whatever I have achieved of benefit to the nation and our State during this period has been due to the fact that I have always maintained that a public official, in every official act that he performs, should be moved by his conscientious convictions as to what is right and under no circumstances, should he ever be controlled by the dictates of party politics, political bosses or patronage distributing officials."

"I do not concede that self-appointed, self-anointed partisan politicians, representing monopolies, and privilege-seeking interests have any right to decide what constitutes a good Republican or to be judges of good faith and regularity."

"If absolute subservience to political bosses is necessary in order for a member of the United States Senate to remain in good standing in his party, I must lead guilty to the charge of irregularity."

"I would rather be right than regular. If compliance to the wishes of these bosses is the test of regularity, I prefer to be irregular."

Cites Efforts for Farm Relief.

"Ever since the war I have striven to the best of my ability to bring relief to stricken agriculture. I have supported every proposal that in any way tended to restore prosperity to the farmers of America. I was the author of the first farm relief bill, it was unanimously reported to the Senate by the Senate Committee on Agriculture. It enjoyed practically the unanimous support of the farmers of the country and particularly those of the great Middle West. But it was opposed by the Republican administration and Mr. Hoover, then a member of the President's Cabinet. As the President's Cabinet was the only one in the country, this opposition, thus led, the bill owes its defeat."

"Subsequent to that time I have joined with those who have labored in the interest of the farmer, but all our efforts have been bitterly opposed by the administration. Both President Coolidge and President Hoover have opposed, and thus far have succeeded in defeating every congressional proposal that we have presented. My attitude in this matter has constituted one of the main reasons for charging me with irregularity."

Examples of "Irregularity."

"The irregularities which I have pointed out were, I have often pointed out where the law has failed because of the neglect of the administration properly to enforce it. This has constituted another instance of my irregularity."

"I helped to bring about the investigation of the Teapot Dome and Elk Hills scandals. This also was contrary to the expressed wishes of the so-called Republican leaders, and hence it provided another excuse for denouncing me as irregular."

"I have insisted that appointment to Federal office, particularly to the judiciary, should be made without regard to politics. I have insisted that political machines should have no voice in the selection of our judges. This has given the politicians another reason for claiming that I am not regular."

For Nonpartisan Tariff.

"In revising the tariff I have insisted that the indefensible and unconscionable rates fixed for the benefit of manufacturers should be so reduced that the consumers of the country, and especially the farmers of the great Middle West, would not be compelled to pay a tribute to monopoly and entrenched greed. In the bill now under consideration, the Senate has adopted an amendment proposed by me which will go far toward putting future tariff legislation on a scientific nonpartisan basis. It will render impossible the log-rolling, trading, and secret maneuvering, which have so often and so recently disgraced the consideration of tariff bills by our national Congress. Of course, this constitutes an additional reason, in the minds of political bosses and the interests which they represent, for regarding me as a poor Republican."

Opposition to Corruption.

"I have insisted that seats in the United States Senate should not be sold at public auction. In accordance with that stand I opposed the seating of Mr. Newberry from Michigan, and incurred the bitter enmity of many Republican leaders. The Senate adopted a resolution introduced by me denying to Mr. Smith of Illinois the right to a seat in the United States Senate because of the enormous campaign fund expended in his behalf, a very large portion of which was contributed by Samuel Insull, one of the most powerful heads of the power trust. This has served as another example of the irregularity for which the people of Nebraska will be asked to drive me from public life."

"I opposed the seating of Mr. Vane from Pennsylvania, and the Senate adopted my resolution

Stolen Carving Returned To Jugo-Slavia From U. S.

Ivory Panel Taken From Cathedral in Agram, Had Been Bought by Cleveland Museum for $10,000.

By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 30.—A small panel of ivory that some artist, possibly at the time of Hugh Capet in France, carved in rich relief the life, suffering and death of Christ, started back to Jugo-Slavia yesterday.

Amid formal ceremony, Frederic Allen Whiting, director of the Cleveland Museum of Art, handed it to Leonidaz Pitamic, Jugo-Slavian Minister to the United States. The ivory, extremely valuable to the collector, had been reported stolen from the cathedral of Agram, Zagreb, in Jugo-Slavia. The report was the subject of an international investigation carried over several weeks, involving the Jugo-Slavian government and dealers in the United States and Europe.

Several conflicting stories had been printed in newspapers of Europe regarding the alleged theft. Some of the stories referred to it as a painting and others as a ivory carving. The museum's purchase of the carving had been reported to be for $10,000.

Whiting, after conferring with Millikan and the New York dealer, decided to return it to the Minister. Pitamic, with an escort, arrived by automobile from Washington yesterday, received the panel and left immediately. In a short address he praised the museum for its action.

The carving is believed to have been made originally as a panel for the cover of a religious book. A jewel was set in the center. Most of its history is obscure, but it is said to have come originally from a medieval atelier in Liege, Belgium, and to show the influence of the famous Metz school at the time of the French Carolingians. The museum's purchase price was reported to have been $10,000.

LAND BANK HEAD PREDICTS BETTER PRICES FOR FARMS

Wood Netherland at Conference of Loan Associations Cites Increased Demand for Acreage.

37 PCT. SLUMP
AT END, HE SAYS

In Terms of Purchasing Power, Tracts Are Selling at Four-Fifths of Pre-War Value, He Avers.

A rise in the prices of farm land was forecast by Wood Netherland, president of the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis, at the opening of the annual conference with officers of 70 Eastern Missouri farm loan associations, at the American Annex today.

The predicted increase was based on the next step from a former demand for farm lands, of which Netherland took notice in an interview published in the Post-Dispatch last August. The bank's sales volume was six times as great in July and August as in any earlier July or August, and it had fewer delinquencies although its loans increased 10 per cent.

Farm land prices had reached the end of their 37-per cent slump, he declared, and were due to go up. The only negative factor, he said, was continued increase in the production of some major farm products. He expected the market for them to improve through the efforts of the Farm Board and the farmers themselves.

Farm commodity prices.

"Commodity has slumped so much since the war on farm land," he remarked. "It is to be expected, of course, that agricultural commodity prices will fluctuate more frequently and more violently than land prices. However, agricultural commodity prices have been on the rise, taking them as a whole, for the last few years, while farm prices continued to decline. To be sure the annual decline in the last two or three years has been only slight and amounted to not over one per cent for the year ended March 1, 1929, but the slump since the peak of land prices in 1920 has been 37 per cent and in some states 50 per cent or more."

"These figures are based upon dollars instead of purchasing power. If interpreted in the terms of purchasing power, farms are selling at only about four-fifths of their prewar value. This is a situation with a vengeance and shows that the price curve has swept on downward beyond what is warranted, from the standpoint of the earning power of farm lands in terms of past operations. The purchasing power of farm commodities increased about 14 per cent during the period from 1922 to 1926 in the face of increased production, fewer people on the farms, and an overburdened market for farm products."

Thinks Tide Has Turned.

"Judging from the inquiries which this bank has for farm lands, I believe the tide has turned in the Sixth Federal Land Bank district. In fact, the Government figures as of March 1, 1929, show a decrease in land values for the year of only 1 per cent in Illinois and Missouri, and only 2 per cent in Arkansas, so that the downward rush of the curve of real estate prices has virtually been stopped and straightened out, and in a few parts of the United States it has actually turned upward. I would not be surprised to see the record for next March show a substantial increase in sale price of lands in this district."

Oliver J. Lloyd, vice president and secretary of the bank, reported that the bank and association of the Sixth Federal Land Bank district, sold 45 farms in the quarter ended Sept. 30, as compared with 14 farms during the like period a year earlier. He also said that the number of farms acquired during the period of 1929 was less than that of a year ago.

"Since in this district is found a little more than one-half of the total increase of owner-operated farms in the United States during this period," he remarked, "it is interesting to point out that $19,325,000 of the increase was in Illinois, $4,189,000 in Missouri and $5,556,000 in Arkansas."

Swedish Queen Grows Weaker.

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 30.—The latest bulletin regarding the health of Queen Victoria of Sweden, who has been staying on the continent, informs the Swedish people that the Queen is confined to bed by a painful cough causing difficulty in breathing and a loss of strength. The bulletin says there are periodical rises in temperature, and that while the condition of her heart is comparatively satisfactory congestion in the lungs has extended somewhat. The Queen is 67 years old.

NOTIFIES INSURANCE FIRMS TO SUBMIT RATE CHANGES

State Superintendent Issues Order to Fire Companies Under Attorney-General's Opinion.
JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 30.—State Insurance Superintendent Joseph B. Thompson served notice today on the Missouri Inspection Bureau of St. Louis, central rating organization for the stock fire insurance companies in Missouri, to submit for his approval all rate changes or reclassifications of individual fire insurance risks, which affect the cost of insurance to the policyholders.

This action was taken under an opinion by Attorney-General Shattell, holding, as was told in the Post-Dispatch, that the Insurance Superintendent has power under the law to require the fire insurance companies to obtain his approval before making any change in the rates of an individual insurance policy under fire, windstorm and hail policies.

Thompson said submission of rating changes was required for fire insurance only, for the present although the department later might require submission of changes in rating of windstorm and hail risks, for department approval.

FLEXIBLE CLAUSE CALLED ONLY BAR TO TARIFF ACTION

If Hoover Will Recede From His Position All Other Differences Can Be Adjusted, Says Garner.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The prediction of Senator Reed, (Rep.), Pennsylvania, that the tariff bill will die in conference with the House, was met with a shrug in the opinion of House Democratic leaders, unless President Hoover recedes from his advocacy of the flexible provisions eliminated by the Senate.

This view was expressed yesterday by Representative Garner of Texas, the House minority chief and Democratic spokesman on the tariff in that chamber. He said if the President would agree to accept a tariff measure shorn of the clause giving the executive power to raise or lower customs rates, all other differences between the Senate and House could be adjusted in conference, including the controversy over the debenture plan.

The Senate repealed the presidential power over rates by 47 to 42 and inserted the export debenture rider into the tariff bill 42 to 34. President Hoover is understood to be just as vigorous in his opposition to debentures as he is in his desire to retain the flexible clause.

Other Comment in House.

Garner was not the only commentator on the tariff situation on the House side, as the Senate, in adjournment out of respect for the death of Senator Burton of Ohio, was taking stock of the outlook. Chairman Hawley of the Ways and Means Committee, whose name is linked with that of Chairman Smoot of the Senate Finance Committee as co-author of the tariff measure, expressed the opinion it would be enacted either at the special or regular session.

"The country is expecting this," he said.

CASKET RESTS ON SENATE ROSTRUM

Senator Fess in Oration, Praises the Efforts of His Late Colleague for World Peace.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—In the Chamber of the United States Senate tribute was paid today to the late Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio by President Hoover, by his colleagues in Congress, by the Justices of the Supreme Court, and the diplomatic representatives of foreign nations.

The ceremony was the first accorded a member of the Senate in recent years. It was called to order by Vice President Curtis. The opening prayer was by the Rev. Z. B. Phillips, the chaplain, and a friend of the late Senator.

President Hoover reached the Capitol at 2:12 p. m., but before entering the chamber a few minutes later went to the President's room where he was joined by members of his cabinet.

Mrs. Hoover, upon her arrival, showed directly to the President's box in the gallery.

Casket on Rostrum.

After the opening prayer, the Rev. James Shera Montgomery, who had known Senator Burton during his long years of service in the House, read the twenty-third Psalm.

The Senate Chamber was banked with palms. The silver casket was placed in front of the Vice President's rostrum.

Immediately behind it members of the family were seated.

Members of the House, in which Burton served at two separate times for a number of terms, occupied chairs at the left of the chamber. The Senators were seated on the right.

Chief Justice Taft of the United States and Associate Justices of the Supreme Court, dressed in their black robes of office, took places on the right, well to the front. Near them were the foreign diplomats and military and naval aides, whose bright uniforms showed up in contrast with the somber robes of the Justices.

Fess Delivers Oration.

Final words of tribute were spoken by Simeon D. Fess, the senior Senator from Ohio, long a member of the Burton family.

Dare We Giggle Now?

THE CHANGING HUMAN NATURE. By Samuel D. Schmalz (Macaulay).

It does sometimes seem to a layman that this business of scientific theorizing may be a point where it is or promises to become a source for future giggling if not for present laughter. If it were only matter of providing an indoor amusement for a few super-intellectuals, it would be an age of popularizing, but even the illiterate have known the results of scientific theory for those who do not get through the scientific world through the form of an unadmitted mass persuasion, and the scientific caste were welded into power over the credulities that has been and still is ruled by the scientific caste.

The reason for this power is not enough. Can we not see in our eyes that science is a miracle? It seems not to many of us that we might distinguish between science and the common folk who do not know much, know that we don't know, and are beginning to venture upon a suspicion that our scientific leaders themselves may not know any more about certain matters than the tremendously ignorant in our difficult business of getting through this world decently.

In the heyday of the Victorian age science set out to prove a naive naive materialism that was carried to its logical conclusion could not but involve the reduction of all the distinctly human values that have resulted from struggle and suffering on part of the finest spirits that have been in our world. Such a world would not be accepted as science, the very simple reason that science was in its very nature extremely concerned with the very new field of "physical phenomena" which could hardly include such values as honor, love, pity, unselfishness, decency, the many humane conceptions which are involved in the meaning that richest of Greek words, phronesis.

Little, what science has proved and couldn't hope to prove to be considered by an increasing proportion of the world as of little or no importance.

CHRYSANTHEMUMS GO ON DISPLAY SUNDAY

Japanese Scene to Be Setting of Exhibition at Shaw's Garden.

The chrysanthemum, national flower of Japan and a favorite in America, where it ranks fourth in commercial importance, will be on exhibition at Shaw's Garden Sunday and through most of the rest of November.

The floral display house is being transformed, appropriately enough, into a Japanese garden, with bamboo fences, straw-thatched pergolas, and archways fashioned from the wood of the Japanese "Tree of Heaven." In the foreground, near the fish pool, will be a tall stone lantern and a large figure of a stork, both from the Japanese exhibit at the world's fair in St. Louis in 1904.

Unless there is a sudden change in weather, early visitors to the show will be able to enjoy features not possible in other years when frosts have killed off the hardy outdoor variety of "mums." Before the hothouse plants were ready for display. The one light frost of the season, which occurred last week, did no material damage to the plants at the garden and even the tropical water lilies still bloom in the pools between the garden entrance and the main exhibition building.

In beds about the pools the hardy chrysanthemums, light pinks of the Mrs. Harrison variety, the darker Kitty Riches, the pale yellow blossoms of the Caprice, so delicate they are seldom grown outside, still bloom with all the freshness that was theirs in early fall.

Visitors entering the display house will see at the right a large red haw tree, brilliant with small red berries suggestive of the holly berries of the holiday season. The red haw, which blooms in May with clusters of pure white blossoms, is the official flower of Missouri.

Eight of the hothouses of the garden are filled with 6000 chrysanthemum plants in various stages of development, insuring fresh stocks of flowers throughout the period of the show. A staff of 12 workmen under the direction of Superintendent George Pring has been busy for a week preparing for the exhibition.

Archbishop to Preach Sunday. Archbishop Glennon will preach at the high mass at 11 a. m. Sunday, at the St. Louis Cathedral.

PUBLIC MEETINGS AND ENTERTAINMENTS

The Society of St. Louis Authors will hold its fifteenth dinner tomorrow night at 7 o'clock at the Forest Park Hotel. Inez Speckling will speak on "Finding the Clay," and Haclan Eugene Read will discuss "Criminology in Fiction." The program will close with a one-act pantomime, "Romance in Old Spain."

The Southampton Development League will meet at 8 p. m. Friday at the Buder School, 5319 Lansdowne avenue.

The 46 queens who will participate in the historical extravaganza at The Arena on the nights of Nov. 15 and 16 will be luncheon guests of the Child Conservation Conference which is sponsoring the presentation, at 12:30 p. m. Friday at Hotel Statler.

The queens, led by Mrs. Victor J. Miller as "Queen of St. Louis," will symbolize periods in the city's history. Senator Hawes, chairman of the "American Beauties of the Past" scene, for which she will seek to enroll former queens of Washington University.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

MISS HUGH MURRAY FRENCH will be hostess at a tea this afternoon to present to society her niece, Miss Emily Westwood Lewis, daughter of Joseph W. Lewis. The party will be given at the Lewis home, 12 Horton place, several hundred guests have been invited from 4 to 6 o'clock.

The debutante and her aunt will receive in the drawing room which will be decorated with baskets and bouquets of gift flowers. Miss Lewis will wear a gown of Nile green lace made with the prevailing high waistline and a circular skirt finished in a deep hemline of net to match her gown. She will wear a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. French will be wearing a black lace and will wear a corsage of orchids.

The table will be adorned with pink roses and will be lighted by white tapers in silver candelabra. Clusters of pink chrysanthemums and pink roses will further emphasize this color in the dining room. The following debutantes will preside at the tea table: Miss Mary Lees Kennard, Miss Lily Busch Magnus, Miss Jean Ford, Miss Anne Sipple, Miss Marie Moray, Miss Katherine Boyd, Miss Patricia Parker, Miss Cynthia Polk, Miss Jane Burns, Miss Christine Jones, Miss Minerva Primm, Miss Margaret Hemmingsway, Miss Hope Pangman, Miss Pauline Lumaghi, Miss Elizabeth Moritt, Miss Mariella Cartwright and Miss Frances Boogher. Miss Virginia Hobart is expected to arrive today from Winnetka, Ill., to be Miss Lewis' bridesmaid.

The following have been invited by Mrs. French to assist: Mrs. George H. Walker Jr., Mrs. L. Ray Carter, Mrs. S. F. Lewis, Mrs. Mansur Tebbets, Mrs. William H. Peuring and Mrs. Douglas Smyth. Miss Lewis was educated at John Burroughs School and Miss Burroughs' School in Connecticut before going abroad to study in Paris. Later she attended Bryn Mawr College and Washington University.

This morning's mail brought invitations to five parties, complimentary to the debutantes of the winter. Cards were received from Mrs. Henry Stuart Butler and her daughter, Miss Jane Butler, for a Sunday night supper Nov. 2 at 8 o'clock in honor of Miss Jane Burns and Miss Emily Lewis, daughter of Joseph W. Lewis, at the Butler home, 4931 Lindell boulevard. Mr. and Mrs. L. Ray Carter, 8 Portland place, have issued invitations to a dinner dance Saturday night, Nov. 16 at 8 o'clock at the St. Louis Country Club, for Miss Lewis and Miss Cynthia Polk, daughter of Charles M. Polk. Cards for the debut ball of Miss Lily Busch Magnus, for the evening of Saturday, Nov. 23, at 9 o'clock at the Bridlespur Hunt Club, have been sent by Miss Magnus' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Magnus, 4 Horton place.

Another interesting invitation is for a luncheon in honor of Miss Patricia Parker, daughter of Mrs. Herbert Lawrence Parker, Saturday, Nov. 9, at 1 o'clock at the Glen Echo Country Club, with the debutante's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lawrence Parker Jr., as host and hostess. A dinner will be given Nov. 17 by Miss Jane Messick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlton Messick, honoring Miss Lewis and Miss Hope Pangman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil C. Pangman.

Miss Jane Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Burns, 30 Lenox place, was the guest of honor at a luncheon given at noon today by Mrs. James M. Francis, at her home, 10 Lenox place. The guests were Miss Minerva Clawson Primm, Miss Jean Ford, Miss Mary Lewis, daughter of Mrs. Lily Busch Magnus, Miss Christine Jones, Miss Mariella Cartwright, Miss Patricia Parker and Miss Emily Lewis.

Miss Kathryn Siedenbueg of New York who has been Miss Burns' guest for the past two weeks, departed at noon for her home. Miss Siedenbueg, who is a debutante of the season in New York, is planning a house party for the month of March on the Florida estate of her mother, Mrs. Reinhard Siedenbueg, near Palm Beach, Fla., and Miss Burns will be one of the guests.

A Sunday night supper at the Bridlespur Hunt Club will be given Dec. 15 by Dr. and Mrs. John R. Gaulk, Clayton and Ballas roads, and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Charles, Claremont Lane, in honor of Miss Hope Pangman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil C. Pangman and Miss Estelle Sanford, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. Hoy Sanford, two of the popular debutantes of the winter.

Miss Estelle Leschen of the St. Regis apartments was hostess yesterday at a luncheon at Hotel Chase, complimenting her debutante niece, Miss Lorraine Leschen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Leschen, 277 Boland drive, and Miss Margaret and Miss Louise Webb, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Webb of Memphis, Tenn., who are Miss Lorraine Leschen's guests.

The guests were seated at one long table arranged in the Italian Garden of the hotel. The table had for its centerpiece chrysanthemums in autumn shades and was lighted by yellow tapers in silver and crystal candelabras. Corsages of yellow roses and lilies of the valley were given as favors.

Those present at the luncheon included Miss Patricia Parker, Miss Martha Frances Bright, Miss Natalie Moffitt, Miss Rita Potter, Miss Helen Uiman, Miss Frances Boogher, Miss Estelle Sanford, Miss Jane Meyer, Miss Stella Switzer, Miss Elizabeth Wearlen, Miss Helen Diehm, Miss Marguerite Van Booven, Miss Katherine Bush, Mrs. Edgar Rand, Miss Florence Leschen, Miss Bernice La Rue and Mrs. William F. Leschen.

MAKES DEBUT TODAY

An interesting autumn wedding will take place at 7 o'clock this evening when Miss Paula Marie Trol, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Trol, 484 Lake avenue, will become the bride of Aaron Patchin Dowler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dowler of Clearfield, Pa. The marriage service will be read by Dr. John L. Roemer, president of Lindenwood College, in the presence of the families and a reception will follow at 8 o'clock for 300 guests.

Miss Trol will be attended by Mr. Dowler's sister, Miss Winifred Dowler, as maid of honor. Claire Schubert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schubert of Dallas, Tex., and Suzanne Medart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Medart of St. Louis, will be flower girls. Linwood Cornman of Lancaster, Pa., will serve as best man.

The bride party will stand in the living room before an improvised altar of Easter lilies, white roses and white chrysanthemums against a background of palms. Cathedral piers in tall candelabra will illuminate the room, which will be further decorated in staid white and baskets of white roses and chrysanthemums. A profusion of chrysanthemums in autumn shades combined with amilies will be used in decorating the dining room.

The bride will be gowned in white panne velvet. The bodice is fitted to the figure by shirring and is designed with a deep V neckline and long tight sleeves of the velvet. The circular skirt is edged in pearls and sweeps the floor at the side and back. A butterfly train also fashioned in pearls depends from the hip line. Her tulle veil, trimmed in sprays of orange blossoms, falls from a headress of rose point lace also adorned in orange blossoms. She will carry Easter lilies and lilies of the valley.

Miss Dowler will be gowned in yellow chiffon, made with a loose fitting bodice and a long full skirt. She will carry Johanna Hill roses. Mrs. Trol will be gowned in black velvet in a gold shade and will wear a corsage of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

The flower girls will wear blue and pink frocks of pleated chiffon and will carry French baskets of flowers. Claire Schubert will be in pink and Suzanne Medart will wear blue.

Following the honeymoon, Mr. Dowler and his bride will make their home in St. Louis. Miss Trol is a graduate of Homer Hall and Briarcliffe College, N. Y., and has traveled abroad extensively. Mr. Dowler is a graduate of Pennsylvania State College and a member of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity.

DAUGHTER of Joseph W. Lewis, 12 Horton place, who will make her debut at a tea which her aunt, Mrs. Hugh Murray French, will give at the Lewis home this afternoon.

Miss Helen Wilson Uiman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chase Uiman of the Chase apartments, will make her debut at a tea which her mother will give at their home from 4 to 6 o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. Uiman and the debutante will receive in the living room before the mantel, which will be banked with chrysanthemums in autumn shades with yellow blossoms predominating. Miss Uiman will wear a dahlia-colored gown of flat crepe made on princess lines and will carry a bouquet of yellow roses. Mrs. Uiman will be gowned in black velvet made on long straight lines with a deep berth of cream lace trimming the bodice.

The tea table will be in yellow with Fernat roses forming the centerpiece. Yellow tapers will illuminate the room, which will be decorated in more of the yellow roses and chrysanthemums. Miss Elizabeth Carlton, Miss Rita Potter, Miss Jane Ring and Miss Virginia Emert will serve at the tea table and the following friends of Mrs. Uiman will assist: Mrs. D. P. Richards, Mrs. W. L. Rathmann, Mrs. Robert Dittman, Mrs. Edward Medart and Mrs. Arthur Reichardt.

Miss Uiman was graduated from Mary Institute and Holton Arms School, Washington.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.

Fifty-seventh street between Madison and Sixth avenue is becoming New York's rue de la Paix—the de luxe shopping center. In 15 years New York's exclusive shopping area has jumped from Thirty-fourth to Fifty-seventh. Real estate men say in 10 more years it will be near Eightieth street.

While Fifth and Madison avenues are smart they haven't that distinct communal efflorescence encompassed on Fifty-seventh. It was recently broadened and pulsed with artistic creations in millinery, jewelry settings, frocks, etc. Sidewalks have been widened and there is the soft rustle of Hispanos and Rolls.

The ballooning of an obscure street into a sudden swankiness is usually the caprice of some fresh fortune. Fifty-seventh street 20 years ago was lined with somber brown stone fronts. Prices of real estate had sagged and there were no buyers.

Only one home owner there seemed to sense the northward business sweep, then at Thirty-fourth street, would come that far. He bought strips of decaying houses on both sides of the street in each block and started a further depression of values by renting basements to cheap John stores and first floors to table d'hotes.

It was a shrewd move. Frightened reality owners decided to be rid of their property at a sacrifice and he bought them. Then he got rid of the riff raff tradesmen to whom he had granted only short leases in 18 years and had to have netted a profit of more than $14,000,000.

There are many groups of real estate speculators, backed by high powered organizations, who are said to be able to depress and increase real estate values in a given neighborhood by manipulation. It generally requires two years, but sometimes it is done in six months.

THE first newspaper in New York was the Gazette, a weekly, which made its first appearance in 1725. There is still a search for a copy of their first issue. A collector offers $4000 for it.

A TAILOR declares that many of his impeccably tailored and soaped customers buy clothes to match the hair of their dog. Only those chattering a dog in shedding time realize the wisdom of such a purchase.

TEX RICKARD's successor as a prize fight promoter has not so far captured the imagination of the sporting crowd. Tex knew how to dramatize himself. His cigar became an epic and his drawl a drama. The wearer of his mantle is William F. Carey, a raw-boned fellow who has knocked about the world as a construction engineer with two companies he heads. He took the presidency of Madison Square Garden solely for relaxation. He loves boxing and the job gives him the intimate touch with it.

MORE than 200 actresses, according to the tabloids, have been involved in the crime passionnel of Broadway. Whenever the fermenting undergrowth spews up a case involving a woman, she becomes "a prominent actress." Yet an investigator finds that only one—Margaret Lawrence—in the past three years had any standing whatever on the speaking stage. The rest so designated, were night club girls or performers in cafes and burlesques.

THERE are five active croquet clubs in Greater New York although the only one the public sees is in the south end of the sheep meadow in Central Park. It has been in existence 45 years and there is never a seasonable day when it is not in use. And they are not all dodders, either. Alexander Wollcott, Herbert Bayard Swope and Neysa McMillen are fervid croquetists.

BUSINESS EDIFICE SOUND DESPITE MARKET SLUMP, SAYS COMMERCE OFFICIAL

Julius Klein, in Radio Address Declares Real Purchasing Power of Nation Has Not Been Affected—Analyzes Market Movement.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, in the first speech on the stock market situation and business made by a high administration official since the recent price declines, informed a national radio audience last night that "regardless of the regrettable speculative uncertainties, the industrial and commercial structure of the nation is sound."

Speaking over the Columbia network, he recalled the words of President Hoover that the fundamental business of the nation is on a firm basis.

"The fundamental factor in the general situation of business," he said, "is purchasing power. Real purchasing power is made up of wages, salaries, receipts of farmers, merchants, professional men, and others and the profits of industry. These have not been changed by the drop in stock prices."

The text of Klein's address follows: "On Friday last the President stated that the fundamental business of the country, that is production and distribution of commodities, is on a sound and prosperous basis. The best evidence is that although production and consumption are at high levels, the average prices of commodities as a whole have not increased and there have been no appreciable increases in the stocks of manufactured goods. However, there has been a tendency of wages to increase and the output per worker in many industries again shows an increase, all of which indicates a healthy condition."

"There is no reason today to change a single word of this statement of the President. Stock exchange prices have gone down materially since Friday but the stock market is not the major barometer of business, and a decline in security prices does not greatly affect the buying power of the community, on which buying power rests the activity of production, the earnings of corporations and other business enterprises, and the employment of labor."

Small Percentage Involved.
"No one knows the number of persons engaged in this speculative activity, but even if we accepted the apparently liberal estimate of some non-official observers, who place the speculative accounts at about a million, these would still involve less than 4 per cent of all of the families in the entire nation. Or, if we put it on the basis of individuals, the ratio would be less than 1 per cent of the total population."

"Please don't misunderstand me or think that I am belittling the hardships of even this small fragment of our people, but even if all of these speculators suffered—and there were untold thousands who did not—you would still have a vastly preponderant majority of the nation unaffected by these speculative gyrations. And remember, incidentally, it is just one corrective of this situation. That these speculative accounts could be matched twice over by the more than 2,000,000 families who derive their livelihood from export trade, which is almost entirely unaffected by this movement."

Stocks Went Too High.
"Stock prices have gone down suddenly because over the past two or three years it seems to be generally agreed that they had risen much too rapidly. Throughout the past eight years, with very temporary and minor recessions, the production of goods and services in the United States has gradually increased. That is the same thing as saying that national income increased. This naturally added to the profits of business, especially as, at the same time, many economies in production methods were introduced. The increased profits of business justified an advance in stock price but they did not justify going up to the sky."

"It would have been proper, no doubt, for stocks to rise in price somewhat faster than actual production of commodities because of the gradual spread among the people of confidence in the general future of American business, of confidence that the increase in production of commodities and profits of industry would in the long run continue. Such a conviction might justify some discounting of future larger earnings in the prices of securities. It did not justify carrying them to such a level that in many cases only a good many years hence could one hope for corporate earnings that would pay a fair rate of return on the prices paid for stocks."

Influence of Boom Psychology.
"We have been under the influence, as regards stock prices, of a boom psychology. Many persons have bought stocks with little knowledge of their present or probable future dividend-paying capacity. Many, moreover, have borrowed money in order to make these stock purchases. A reaction was bound to occur."

"The main point which I wish to emphasize is the fundamental soundness of that great mass of economic activities on which the well-being of the vast majority of us all depends. One may have due sympathy for the very considerable number who have lost money in the stock market without losing sight of the fact that there has been no change in the situation of the overwhelming majority of American families. The growth of the income of the nation and the advance in the well-being of its business men, its wage earners and its farmers during recent years has not been due to boom psychology nor to temporary and fleeting causes. It has been a definite upward trend, not a wave, whose subsidence would leave us in a deep trough."

Gain in Efficiency.
The fundamental cause of the expansion of business and the improvement in standards of living has been the growing efficiency of production. We have been able to produce more and more goods and services per person at work. This gain in efficiency in turn has been due to causes of an enduring and cumulative character, causes that enter into the very bodies and minds of our people, and into the very foundations of our economic structure."

The steady spread of education is perhaps the most basic of these upward-pushing forces. Closely allied with this is the growth of scientific research with its harvest of inventions and discoveries. The abundant savings of the people, with the consequent expansion of our capital have enabled us to provide more and better equipment for production, thus reducing costs. One could readily name other basic factors which have contributed to our progress and which are just as real and powerful today as they were a month ago and far more powerful than they were even eight or 10 years ago."

Commodity Prices Steady.
The most conclusive evidence that the progress of American industry and commerce in recent years has not been fictitious, has not been a mere inflationary boom, lies in the steadiness of prices of commodities. Against the immense advance in prices of securities, those of goods and services have for years been stationary or with a slight downward trend. A business boom which threatens a subsequent collapse of business is always accompanied by considerable, if not great, advance in commodity prices."

"Some of you may be expecting me to tell you what is going to happen to stock prices tomorrow and next week. If you pause to think about it, however, you will realize that it would be quite improper as well as impossible for any Government official to give out such an opinion. The careful student of American economic life, equipped with an abundance of statistics, can forecast fairly well the long-time trends of production and of standards of living and even of many more specific branches of business or other economic aspects. He cannot foresee accurately short-time changes in economic conditions and least of all those speculative changes which depend largely on the psychology of the people or of a fraction of the people."

"All of us are justified, in my opinion, in a profound confidence in the general economic future of the country. Just what relation should exist between that confidence and his present attitude toward the stock market is something for each individual to decide for himself."

Increase in Production.
"Broadly speaking, our average per capita production has increased by from 50 to 75 per cent since 1900 and by from 25 to 35 per cent since 1910, and remember that 1919 was not a depression year but one of high activity. I fully believe that the causes which have brought about this great advance will accomplish as much during the next decade or the next quarter of a century. There may be temporary recessions but these can be reduced to a minimum if we all have confidence in the general upward trend."

"Many of the business depressions of past decades have been primarily psychological and could have been avoided or minimized if the business men and the masses of the people had had the proper confidence in themselves. The general public of today understands, better than ever before, the long term trends of our economic life and the fundamental forces at work in it. I believe that we have very good reason to anticipate that this great knowledge will breed greater confidence and will prevent us from giving way in any large measure to a defeatist psychology. "The fundamental factor in the general situation of business is purchasing power. Real purchasing power is made up of wages, salaries, receipts of farmers, merchants, professional men, and others and the profits of industry. These factors have not been changed by the drop in stock prices. The national income of the United States at this moment is hardly a fraction less than it was a month ago. Established indexes such as the quantity of output of our farms, our mines, and our factories, and the volume of our railroad transportation, supports this view."

Few Affected by Decline.
"The number of citizens whose buying ability has been affected by the decline in the value of speculative securities is not very large. Their purchases do not make up a very significant fraction of the demand for goods. There is no reason why the 25 or more million families, representing over 95 per cent of our population whose incomes remain undiminished should cut down their purchases of commodities, and therefore very few industries should see any appreciable reduction in the sales of their output."

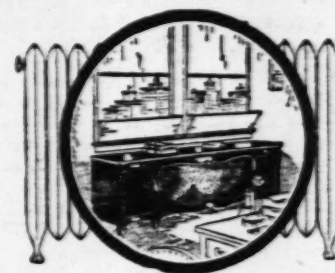

"Aside from purchases of goods by consumers for their own actual use the biggest demand for commodities is that for expanding what the economists call the capital equipment of the nation. "In normal times there is an immense call for building materials, steel, machinery, railroad equipment, and many other classes of goods for the purpose of building and equipping factories, public works and other productive enterprises. At least a tenth and perhaps an eighth of the productive energy is normally devoted to this creation of capital goods. "If our business men and our people maintain that confidence in the future which the long experience of the past fully justifies, we shall see no diminution in the demand for capital goods as the result of the break in stock prices. On the contrary, the diversion of capital from stock market speculation to direct productive enterprise might readily increase the demand for commodities of this sort."

Reasons for Confidence.
One of the major grounds for confidence in the soundness of American industry lies in the spread dissemination of statistical information and the practice of business men in guiding their policies in the light of such information."

U. S. EXPERT FINDS BUSINESS SOUND DESPITE MARKET

statistics. Never before has American industry and commerce been so ably managed as at present. Our commercial and industrial corporations are headed by men of broad vision, high qualifications and large experience with the intricate problems of our complex economic scheme.

More than this, the executives of American business have today at their finger tips current facts upon the movement of their own industries, allied industries and all industry and business of which in the last analysis, because of the interdependence between industry and industry, is of great importance. Rule of thumb practices have long since given way to policies based upon proper facts and analyses.

The business man who is momentarily disturbed by the sharp decline in stock prices will glance at the current statistics of other economic factors. He will find, for example, that in September — of course, actual October figures are not yet available — industrial employment was 5 per cent greater than a year ago and that the amount of wage payments by our factories was 8 per cent larger than in September last year. He will see no ground for expecting reduced purchases of commodities on the part of the wage earner.

No Accumulation of Stocks.
"He will find that there has been no accumulation of stocks of manufactured goods because of over-anticipation of future demand or because of any present falling off in demand. The American Railway Association, which collects advance information as to the probable demand for cars, has received reports indicating freight car requirements for the present quarter are more than 2 per cent greater than for the same quarter of 1928. This demand for freight cars reflects the production of and demand for goods.

"Again the statistics show the farmer in a relatively favorable condition, and his demand for manufactured goods may well be expected to remain strong. The quantity of crop production this year has been almost as great as last year when the income of the farmer was the highest in history. One cannot, of course, forecast the price of farm products but thus far they are practically the same as a year ago.

"We must not forget, moreover, that export trade has become a very important factor in American business. Exports of manufactured goods especially have increased steadily and rapidly in recent years. We now export approximately 10 per cent of the total output of our factories. There is no reason to anticipate any decline in this big factor in demand, and on the contrary the upward movement of recent years is likely to continue.

Increase in Insurance.
"One of the major indications of general prosperity is the amount of new life insurance taken out; only when people have high buying power can they afford to add to this protection for their families. Sales of insurance were 15 per cent greater last month than in September, 1928, and every recent year has shown a gain in the annual volume of new insurance until today we have the truly prodigious total of over $100,000,000.00 of insurance now in force. Some small fragment of this doubtless was bought with the proceeds of speculation, but by far the greater part of it stands as a mighty symbol of the inherent economic soundness as well as the farsighted frugality of our nation.

"After all, the volume of our purchasing power measures the heights of our living standards; it is the impressive manifestation of our high wage rates. And basically our normal purchasing power has not been appreciably impaired.

"Regardless of regrettable speculative uncertainties, the industrial and commercial structure of the nation is sound."

"Those who knew him best," Senator Fessenden said, "fully realize his great concern about the peace of the world. He was perhaps the foremost American in an endeavor to promote this great object."

Speaking after Fess, Congressman Willis C. Hawley of Oregon, one of Burton's colleagues in the days when he served in the House, spoke of him as a leader in three of the greatest problems before the nation—development of inland waterways, promotion of world peace and settlement of the world war debts of foreign nations to the United States.

WOMAN TO BE FREED AFTER QUESTIONING ABOUT MURDER

One Orde Will Be Examined Regarding Killing of Jack Kraft

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 30.—Jone
Orde, material witness in the Jack Kraft murder case, will be released from jail without bond after she tells in court tomorrow all she knows about incidents preceding the death of the man with whom she traveled on the steamship Creole. Kraft's body, with a bullet in the heart, was found floating in the Mississippi River below New Orleans.

John McGouldrick, second officer of the Creole, under indictment for the murder of Kraft, will be present in court at the taking of testimony, and his attorneys will have opportunity to cross-examine the witness.

Investigators reported that Jone
Orde had been identified as Gloria
R. Cuzer by a locket found in her effects.

PILOT WHO BOMBED
BIRGER ROADHOUSE
IS KILLED IN CRASH

Elmer M. Kane Burned to Death Near Mount Vernon, O., While Flying Mail Plane.

SHELTONS GAVE HIM
$1000, STOLEN AUTO

Involved in Gangster Feud Accidentally, He Served
60 Days for Dyer Act Violation.

The career of another picturesque participant in the Southern Illinois gang war of 1926 was terminated yesterday when Elmer M.
Kane, air mail pilot, crashed and burned to death near Mount Vernon, O.

Kane, a young barnstorming aviator at the time, became involved in the Birger-Shelton hostilities by chance, and his connection, although short, was exceedingly victuous. One night he crouched in the rear of a frame dwelling near Benton, Ill., while Birger gangsters riddled the place with bullets. Next morning he piloted the airplane from which Birger's armed stronghold, "Shady Rest,"
was bombed by a Shelton gangster.
The bombing did no damage, and Kane was driven away by rifle fire of the Birgerites.

It was not until the next year,
when Charlie Birger, leader of the gang, was being tried for murder,
that Kane's identity became known.
Hired by Birger's enemies, he and a fellow barnstormer had received $1000 and an automobile for use of the airplane. It turned out the automobile had been stolen by Shelton gangsters. Kane and his companion, Harry Mundale, were arrested, pleaded guilty of violation of the Dyer act, which prohibits interstate transportation of stolen automobiles, and were sentenced to 60 days in jail.

By coincidence, Kane and Mun-dale became involved in the gang war. On a barnstorming tour of Southern Illinois, they landed in West City, a suburb of Benton, late in the afternoon of Nov. 11, 1926, slightly damaging their plane. Just as they completed repairs, a group of men, including Mayor Joe Adams
of West City, approached them with a proposition to hire the plane
to bomb "Shady Rest."

The aviators agreed and spent
that night at Mayor Adams' house, under close guard. At 2 a. m., the Birger gang drove past and poured heavy rifle and machine gun fire through the windows. Carl and Bernie Shelton of East St. Louis, principal enemies of Birger, had been in the house earlier, but had been arrested by Federal officers for alleged complicity in the Collinsville, Ill., mail robbery.

No one was hit in the attack on Adams' house, and early next morning the aviators were taken back to the plane, which had been re-fueled and loaded with three heavy dynamite bombs. Weight of the bombs and gasoline was so great that Kane was able to take only one passenger, a Shelton gangster known to him as Ray, who was to drop the bombs. Mundale, driving the automobile received from Adams, left once for Burksville, Ill., where the two had another airplane undergoing repairs.

The plane flew 20 miles to Shady Rest, circled low, and the gangster dropped the first bomb. It failed to explode. The second blew up, with much noise but no damage, in a grove of trees 100 yards from the Birger stronghold. The third failed to explode. By that time the Birgerites were directing a hot rifle fire at the plane and Kane, banking sharply, flew back to West City, where the gangster alighted. Kane then flew on to Burksville.

Exactly a month later, Mayor Adams was called to the door of his home and murdered by two youths sent there by Birger. It was for this murder that Birger was convicted in July, 1927, and hanged the following April.

Kane served his 60-day sentence
and went back to barnstorming.
After a time he became employed as a pilot for Universal Air Lines, flying mail and passengers from Cleveland, O., to Louisville, Ky. It was in this capacity that he was flying yesterday when he crashed and was burned to death. There were no passengers in the plane at the time.

Kane's home was in Cedar Falls,
Ia. After an army training course at Kelly Field he ran an airport at Waterloo, Ia., for a time and then started on the barnstorming tour.
He was 25 years old and had been flying for seven years.

ALEXANDER FAVORS FLORIDA TO DEFEAT HARVARD IN GAME SATURDAY

TECH COACH WRITES NOTRE DAME IS TOO STRONG FOR HIS ELEVEN; GEORGIA IS PICKED OVER TULANE

By W. A. Alexander
Member All-America Football Board.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 30.—Southeastern eleven this week are preparing for the big November games and an atmosphere of intense activity is everywhere. Most of the conference leaders had comparatively easy games last Saturday designed to give them time to catch their breath before going out for important opponents in November.

Consequently there was little change in the championship flight over the week end and the race is far from settled. Nearly all the preseason favorites have been stung by defeat and the dark horses are running wild. Georgia Tech, Alabama and Florida did not survive October.

Eight games next Saturday involve Conference teams and these ALEXANDER will go far toward cutting down the field of near-champions. One of the principal games is the Georgia-Tulane game at Columbus, Ga., that will be played Friday to avoid conflict with the Tech-Notre Dame game in Atlanta. Georgia, conqueror of Yale and North Carolina on successive Saturdays, has a young squad that is improving steadily and they must be given a slight edge over the Green Wave. It will be an A-1 game and should pack the beautiful municipal stadium to the limit. Special trains will carry students and bands from both colleges. Columbus itself will be a neutral host.

Kentucky Team Favored.

Kentucky and Clemson, two of the most rugged, powerful teams in the Conference met in Lexington, Ky., Saturday in a game that bears strongly on the championship. Kentucky has played only one Conference game and in that encounter handed Washington and Lee a defeat by a big score. Clemson is strong and has a great forward passing combination in McMillan and Woodruff, but I look for the Kentuckians to win by virtue of a gigantic rush line and two fine backs. "Shipreck" Kelly and Will Ed Covington.

Maryland and Virginia meet in their annual game at College Park. Virginia looks to hold the edge.

Mississippi took early season defeat from Vanderbilt, Alabama and Tennessee on successive Saturdays but is fast regaining equilibrium and should be able to take the measure of Sewanee by a small score.

North Carolina's Tarheels ought to be far too strong for North Carolina State to hope to defeat. Tennessee figures to win as she pleases from Auburn at Knoxville, and Virginia Polytechnic Institute, a very strong team this year.

Mid-Western League Officials Are Anxious to Get Locals Into Line

By Herman Wecke

According to reports from Detroit, the soccer fans of that city have been led to believe that the St. Louis eleven would be participants in the Inter-city Midwestern League this season. At least, that is the statement given out in the Michigan city by the management of the Holleys and Detroit S. C., two of the teams in the circuit.

But local eleven have no idea of entering. They told the officials that when they were approached and have not had a change of mind. When the Midwestern was first talked of, the St. Louis officials declared they would entertain offers for exhibition games, but would not compete as league clubs. And there the matter stands.

Reason for Not Joining.
The major reason for the St. Louis team not playing in the circuit is, of course, a financial one. For years, out-of-town teams have asked and obtained big guarantees for coming here. But when St. Louis eleven have gone elsewhere, they have been fortunate to get expenses. Local officials do not figure that the game in Detroit, Chicago and Cleveland has advanced enough to give the locals an even break financially.

That St. Louis has been the Western leader in attendance and receipts is shown by U. S. F. A. reports of national cup ties.

Need St. Louis Clubs.
According to comment by Fred Broomfield, Detroit News soccer expert, the Inter-city League needs St. Louis. He writes in part: "I cannot see how the Inter-city League or any other in the Midwest can be entirely successful without the color supplied by the American-born St. Louis players. The two Cleveland teams are well balanced and good; Holleys play the old country slow passing game and the Chicago Carpenters employ the same method."

In the circuit last week the Holleys, leading by a single point, trounced the Carpenters in an exhibition game, 4 goals to 1. In a league match, the Detroit S. C. defeated Sparta of Chicago, for the second season one of the best in

by James M. Gould

It Does Not Look Even.

ON the face of the football returns the Saturday game between the Washington U. Bears and the Carnegie Tech Tartans might seem to rate about as even as a game between Great Britain and the principality of Monaco. The record made by Carnegie Tech—defeated this year only by Notre Dame and then by a 7-0 score—certainly is somewhat more brilliant than that made by the Bears against Illinois College, Drake, Grinnell and Drury. But, those who go to Francis Field Saturday, expecting to see a slaughter of the Bears are quite likely to be disappointed.

In none of their 1929 games have the Tartans run up enormous scores. It is quite possible that their defense will prove too strong for Washington's offense, but even that is not sure. It seems to have been overlooked that the Bears really have a fine scoring punch. They have scored 67 points in four games with a scoreline including a 40-0 victory over Saussele, Waid, Rawdon and Hornsby has plenty of power. Washington's problem against Carnegie would seem to be one of defense against a varied attack sure to be shown by their opponents.

Should Be a Fine Game.

Whether Carnegie will be satisfied to win by two or three touchdowns or whether, after their defeat last Saturday by Rockne's Ramblers they will be seeking a chance to roll up a tremendous score can only be speculated upon. Certainly, Carnegie has more power and resistance than the Bears and the Pittsburgh eleven also will score heavily in the matter of reserves.

It should be a fine game to watch especially if the spectators forget to keep their attention on the ball and try to figure out the workings of offense and defense of the contenders.

Teams Evenly Matched.

MORE evenly matched are the St. Louis University and Coe eleven. The Billikens have been painted as very much "down in the dumps" after the Loyola defeat. These stories may be taken with several grains of salt. There is too much football material on the Billiken squad to be crushed by a single disappointment. Moreover, according to Head Coach Anderson, the Loyola eleven was a mighty strong one. A close battle from Coe and, therefore, Saturday's game here should be a battle from start to finish.

Some day some football Edgar Lee Masters will write an "Anthology of the Football Song." It might make interesting reading. Note this from a song used by Cleveland High School rooters:

"Sons of Cleveland, soak 'em Knock 'em down and choke 'em"
"Forward into battle,
Make their old bones rattle."
Charming sentiments, these, but quite footballish. And, the Carnegie Foundation said not a word along this line.

FRANK EBL of Cleveland High and Woodrow Walsh of Central will be opposed, Nov. 9. These boys are guards in a big way. EBL weighs 275 pounds. Instead of being awkward because of this great poundage, the two boys have proven real football players in the line and the meeting should be fraught with real competitive possibilities.

Washington will be up against an experienced team as the Carnegie outfit has exactly the same lineup of last year except for the quarterback berth where the famous Harpster performed. The Bears will have eight lettermen in the lineup, the only newcomers being Saussele and Waid in the backfield, Friedman at end and Senn at guard. Saussele and Waid

BUTZ PERFORMS AT CENTER IN SCRIMMAGE FOR CARNEGIE GAME

By Henry L. Freund

Washington University's opportunity for national football recognition will come Saturday afternoon when the Bears oppose Carnegie Tech. The Washington coaching staff plans to take full advantage of the opportunity. The team ran through a lengthy signal drill after the line men had practiced charging and the backs practiced catching punts. The season was topped off for the regulars by a short scrimmage against the freshmen. The regulars received the kick-off and after Dick Rawdon had run the ball from the 20 to 40-yard line, the game was on. On four plays, the varsity advanced the ball to the Pross 40-yard line and then Leslie Waid got away for a run that ended in a touchdown. After Scott Hornsby's place kick for the extra point had been blocked, Coach Sharpe decided that the regulars had enough.

Butz Back at Center.
The varsity played excellent football against the first-year men, the line charging in fine style. The lineup of the first team appears the one which will open against Tech. Butz, who was ill last week, was at center; Senn and Jablonsky at guards; Farris and Glazer at the tackles, and Friedman and Coover at the ends. The backfield was composed of Waid at quarter, Rawdon and Saussele at halfback and Hornsby at full.

Bert Springer, who has an injured ankle, was in uniform and spent the afternoon receiving instruction from Ralph Kurz, end coach. Springer will no doubt see service against the visitors and is being groomed for an end position as the Bears are short of good wing material. Burford, Wientge and Putney are laid up with injuries and Friedman, although playing well, is light and lacks experience.

The Freshmen were not through after the varsity left the field as Coach Sharpe then sent his second team against the Frosh, and the teams battled on very terms for half an hour. Hub Miller, Duckels, Tyrell and Higgins looked especially good for the yearlings. Duckels on one occasion made an excellent 40-yard return of a punt.

Face Experienced Eleven.
Although Carnegie will be well equipped with Washington plays, due to the school's having sent three scouts to watch the Bears against Drury, Sharpe's players will also be familiar with Carnegie formations. The last two Carnegie games, which have been gruelling ones for the Bears, were watched by Washington coaches, who brought back detailed accounts. Backfield Coach Johnny Davis saw the scoreless tie two weeks ago with Washington and Jefferson and Line Coach Gale Bullman witnessed Notre Dame's 7-0 over Carnegie.

Washington will be up against an experienced team as the Carnegie outfit has exactly the same lineup of last year except for the quarterback berth where the famous Harpster performed. The Bears will have eight lettermen in the lineup, the only newcomers being Saussele and Waid in the backfield, Friedman at end and Senn at guard. Saussele and Waid

ARMY-NAVY PARLEY ON ATHLETIC RELATIONS FAILS OF AGREEMENT

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The superintendents of the military and naval academies failed to reach an agreement today in their effort to resume athletic relations.

Major-General Smith, superintendent at West Point, after conferring with Rear Admiral Robinson, commandant at Annapolis, said West Point felt the disrupted relations over the three-year eligibility rule with the Navy to be deplorable.

He added that while no agreement had been reached today the army still was hopeful that the "Navy will in time agree to meet us on the gridiron man for man, as do other colleges."

Nothing was forthcoming immediately from Admiral Robinson on this conference.

Pitt to Play Notre Dame.
Pitt will play Notre Dame a series of three games this year in 1931 and 1932.

are sophomores, Senn was a reserve last season and Friedman was not out for football last year. The officials for Saturday's game will be E. E. Miller (Pa. State), referee; Edward Cochrane (Kalamazoo), umpire; W. H. Friesell Jr. (Princeton), head linesman; and H. G. Hedges (Dartmouth), field judge.

DOWN THE STRETCH

By Melvin D. Fulcher

The leadership of the jockeys for the year still remains with M. Knight, who rode at both Fairmount meetings this year. Including last week he had ridden 124 winners. A. Robertson, who is riding in Maryland, is second with 118. J. Dyer was high rider last week with 10 winning mounts, while H. Schutte, at Latonia rode seven. Verlyn Smith, probably the best apprentice developed this year is fourth on the honor list with 107 winners. Smith has gained steadily in the past two months and with good luck has a good chance to head the winners for the year.

Maj. T. C. McDowell and James Butler, Eastern owners, are among the latest to signify their intention of racing at the Keeney Park, Jacksonville, Fla., meet which opens in December. McDowell was one of the racing stewards at several Fairmount meetings. He raced a stable at the East Side track, the horses being in charge of Jack Howard. McDowell was one of the stewards at a former Florida meeting when he served with Joseph A. Murphy at H. D. Brown's Jacksonville meet in 1910. Arch Bray, a son of State Representative M. E. Bray of Illinois, who was an active sponsor of the present Illinois racing bill, has signed up Martin Gleason an apprentice jockey who, it is reported, is a product of the Chicago riding academies. He weighs only 90 pounds.

R. A. Smith, veteran trainer, may retire this fall according to Eastern gossip. Smith, who is well known in St. Louis, was until a short time ago trainer for the Jefferson Livestock stable as well as handling horses for other Eastern owners. He was prominent in the old days of racing when he had Articulate, a good handicap horse, in his stable. Ultra Gold and Slipper Elm were two racers he owned some years back and with which he won many races both winter and summer.

Wu, a maiden 2-year-old, won defeat.

CHAIRMAN IS NAMED FOR ST. LOUIS Y. M. C. A. ATHLETIC COUNCIL

the sixth race at Empire City yesterday, which was for all maidens at a mile and a sixteenth. His brief name recalls the name of the long names he had given some years ago. He received the name after his breeder, the late Captain E. C. Cassatt, had posted many jests from his friends over the long names he had given some of his horses. His chief opponent, it seems, was the name Chelmsford of Chesterbrook. Incidentally, the name proved too much for the racer to carry in a two-horse race in the East and held at the prohibitive odds of 1 to 12 he was defeated.

7 Years' Practice Taught
Dr. Caldwell
Many things about Men and Women

He studied the habits of the human body and tried to improve the ways of living. His observations over a long period of time convinced him many people were suffering from a lack of health. He was determined to write a prescription which would get at the cause of the trouble and correct it quickly and safely.

His successful efforts were shown by the fact that the prescription he wrote back in 1888 has become one of the world's most popular laxatives. He prepared a mixture of herbs and pure ingredients now known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is thousands of cases of constipation, flatulence, and indigestion, and lack of appetite, which showed him that there was an irregularity of elimination in men, women or children. It proved successful in the most obstinate cases. So men liked it. Children liked its pleasant taste. And everybody is pleased with the gentle way it accomplishes its purpose.

By 1888, the demand for this laxative was so great that the doctor permitted it to be bottled and sold by drug stores. Today you can obtain Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from any drug store in the world.

U. S. FOREIGN TRADE
BEST IN 9 YEARS

Nine Per Cent Gain in Exports and 10 Per Cent in Imports Shown for 9 Months.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—A 9 per cent gain in exports and a 10 per cent gain in imports for the first nine months of 1929 indicate the largest growth of American foreign trade in any years since the war, the National Foreign Trade Council reported today.

Exports for the nine months were $3,489,000,000, or $292,000,000 greater than they were in 1927, the next highest total for the period of almost nine years. Imports for the nine months at $3,361,000,000 were larger than any for any year since 1920.

The export business in automobiles and parts this year is the largest ever recorded. The figures for the first nine months, with exports valued at $455,400,000, show a gain of 22 per cent over the next highest total for the period, which was last year. Machinery exports have also been the highest on record for the last nine months, totaling $462,500,000 or 25 per cent better than the corresponding months of last year.

It is in these figures, the Trade Council said, "that it becomes apparent that the main occupation of American export trade today is to equip the rest of the world with the implements of the American standard of living."

The most active field for our export growth, the survey report continued, "is at present in South America, where our exports increased from $205,000,000 to $371,000,000 or more than 25 per cent during the first eight months of this year. In the same period our exports to Asia reached $414,000,000, a gain of 8 per cent, those to Canada $553,000,000, a gain of 10 per cent and to Europe $1,442,000,000 with a gain of 4 per cent."

Imports this year show a slightly larger amount of finished manufactured goods than in recent years, though for the most part these are articles not competitive with American industry. About 15 per cent of imports are of this character, compared with 49 per cent of crude materials and foodstuffs, 10 per cent of manufactured foodstuffs for consumption and 20 per cent of semi-manufactured goods for further processing in the United States.

The largest amount of new imports during the year have come from Europe, which showed a gain of 8 per cent over the same months last year. Imports from South America increased about 11 per cent to $439,000,000.

British Ex-Chancellor Asleep When Ship Carrying Him to England Leaves New York.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Asleep in his cabin, after 42 newspaper interviews in the course of a two months' visit to the United States and Canada, Winston Churchill and British Chancellor of the Exchequer under Premier Baldwin, sailed for home on the Berengaria yesterday.

"He's asleep, and he can't be disturbed," Maj. John Churchill, his brother, told reporters. Gen. Charles G. Dawes, Ambassador to the Court of St. James, also was to have sailed on the Berengaria, but postponed his departure until next Wednesday, when he will leave on the Mauretania.

It contains that Loez still has "illegal control" of the St. Louis Southwestern and that the proposed al of the road to extend its line in the St. Francis basin or Arkansas and obtain a direct route from St. Louis to Memphis was initiated in the interest of the Kansas City Southwestern railroad unification with the commission opposing proposed extensions of the St. Louis Southwestern (Cotton Belt) Railway.

The brief was presented by Walter E. Meyer, on behalf of himself and other stockholders of the St. Louis Southwestern.

Exports for the nine months were $3,489,000,000, or $292,000,000 greater than they were in 1927, the next highest total for the period of almost nine years. Imports for the nine months at $3,361,000,000 were larger than any for any year since 1920.

STEEL EARNINGS

9 MONTHS GAIN

$7.65 A SHARE

Extra Dividend of $1 Declared — Plants Operating at 82 Per Cent of Their Capacity.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Reporting earnings of $18.52 a share for the first nine months of 1929, against $11.71 in the same period last year, directors of the United States Steel Corporation yesterday declared an extra dividend of $1 a share on the common stock.

The action was not unexpected in Wall Street, as reports had said that some "good news" would be forthcoming from the meeting. It was taken, the board explained, in view of the favorable financial statement which showed total third quarter earnings of $17,713, after expenses, taxes and interest on subsidiaries' bonds, against $11,954.61 for the second quarter, which had established a peace time record, and $12,476.4 a year ago.

Net profit for the quarter ended Sept. 30 was $1,575,350, equal to $5.57 a share on 1,211,071 shares of common, against $3,925,843, or $6.68 a share on 1,116,235 shares in the preceding quarter and $29,888,259, or $3.31 a share in the corresponding 1928 interval.

Total earnings for the first nine months of this year were $205,274,555, compared with $140,015,494 in 1928, while net profit was $147,586,640, against $77,086,883.

"In the light of these earnings," said a brief statement issued after the directors' meeting and after the close of the stock market, "the directors today voted an extra dividend of 1 per cent upon the common stock."

The steel corporation's plants are operating at 82 per cent of rated capacity. Unfilled orders on hand Sept. 30 amounted to 3,902,581 tons.

Action was expected on the company's contemplated purchase of the Columbia Steel Co. of San Francisco, but the directors announced that the option, which was to have expired yesterday, had been extended to Oct. 31.

The extra dividend, together with the regular dividend of $1.75 a share on the common, is payable Dec. 30 to stock of record Nov. 30. Making deductions for the additional payment, the corporations surplus for the quarter just ended was $22,909,447, compared with $11,127,923 in the same period of 1928.

CONVERTIBLE BONDS UP

INVESTMENTS SLUMP

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The bond market again developed weakness today and a large number of losses running to a point or more appeared in the late trading. High-grade investment issues sold off with those of lesser merit, but the convertibles advanced sharply in sympathy with the forward movement in stocks.

It was apparent that bonds were being liquidated in part to provide funds for stock purchases, for the decline embraced such obligations as American Telephone & Telegraph, U. S. Steel, and others.

The list was steady during the afternoon trading, but weakened in the early afternoon.

Bonds with speculative possibilities, such as the share feature issues, rose rapidly. American Telephone & Telegraph 4 1/2s, Chile Copper 5s, Bethlehem Steel 5 1/2s, Inland Steel debenture 4 1/2s, Laclede Gas 5 1/2s, Rock Island 4 1/2s, Utah Power and Light 5s, Northern Pacific general 3s and others of investment character, each of which fell a point or more, some reaching new lows.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Directors of the Cities Service Co. today voted to withdraw the offer of rights to stockholders to purchase additional stock at $45 a share.

When this offer was made about three weeks ago the stock was selling above $60 a share, but the recent collapse of security prices carried it down to $40, and today closed at $42 1/2. The rights have been heavily traded on the New York Curb Exchange, ranging from $5.50 to 37 cents. These traded rights are sold, but brokerage commissions must be paid.

MANY ISSUES ON CURB

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The Curb market experienced one of the most violent upturns in its history today, as a sequel to the unprecedented collapse of prices during the past two sessions. Prices gyrated wildly at times, as considerable selling had to be absorbed by practically the entire list went up with a rush during the afternoon, scores of issues showing net gains of 5 to more than 50 points.

The ticker was again lost in the deluge of orders, and was more than two hours late at the close. It was not expected to print the final quotations until after 6 p. m.

In order to give the market time to dig itself out of the enormous amount of business, governors of the Curb followed the action of the Stock Exchange in delaying tomorrow's opening until noon, and ordering closing all day Friday and Saturday.

While closing quotations were withdrawn in only a few issues, owing to the lateness of the ticker, they gave a fair sample of the rise. Cities Service, which had been carried in the decline from 6 1/2 to 20, closed at a net gain of 9 points. Electric Investors rose 3 1/2 points, Central States Electric 1 1/2, Goldman Sachs 2 1/2, Fourth National Investors 1 1/2, Middle West Utilities (old) 5 1/2 points, and Pennroad 4. Total sales were 3,899,200 shares.

The Curb Exchange also made public these closing prices:

Aluminum Co. of America 24 1/2, up 1/2; American Super Power A. 26, up 1/2; Associated Gas and Electric 45, up 1/2; Blue Ridge Corporation 10 1/4, up 1/4; Colgate Palm Pe 5 1/2, up 1/4; Fox Theater A. 15, up 1/2; General Baking 4 1/2, up 1/2; H. Walker 12, up 1/2; Newmont Mining 150, down 1/2; Shenandoah Corporation 14 1/4, up 1/4; Standard Oil Indiana 5 1/4, up 1/4; Standard Oil Kansas 2 1/4, up 1/4; Standard Oil Kentucky 3 1/2, up 1/4; Transcontinental Air Transportation 9 1/2, up 1/2; Vacuum Oil 105, up 1/2; Zonite Products 26, down 1/2.

COTTON HIGHER ON WEATHER

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Cotton opened steady at an advance of 13 to 18 points today with the active market selling at 21 1/2 to 22 1/2. The market was covered by heavy buying and some commission house demand, probably for the purpose of covering the cotton and central belts and talk of a strike in the cotton fields.

Future closing steady, 10 to 20 points higher, with the active market selling at 21 1/2 to 22 1/2. The market was covered by heavy buying and some commission house demand, probably for the purpose of covering the cotton and central belts and talk of a strike in the cotton fields.

Future closing steady, 10 to 20 points higher, with the active market selling at 21 1/2 to 22 1/2. The market was covered by heavy buying and some commission house demand, probably for the purpose of covering the cotton and central belts and talk of a strike in the cotton fields.

ISHBEL MACDONALD Takes a Hurried GLIMPSE of the U.S.A.

Life Speedier Here Than in England
But British Visitor Likes the Pace

By Ishbel MacDonald

Above are J. Ramsay MacDonald, Prime Minister of England and his daughter, Ishbel, during their recent visit to Niagara Falls. At the right is a photograph of Miss MacDonald holding twins Marie and Helen McKee at the Henry Street Settlement House in New York City. She was there to speak on welfare problems.

the national capital this time in autumn leaves instead of cherry blossoms. It was lovely, but not as lovely as in spring when I discovered dogwood, a flower I never have seen in England.

I am inclined to think there was a little more entertaining in Washington than in London, but social life in these two English-speaking countries does not seem to me very dissimilar. Indeed, although Americans have had a President and Britishers have a King there seems to be much of the same reverence few cooking lessons so that we need not employ a cook."

Everywhere I went I was asked to comment on American women. Beyond this, all I can say, they are charming, graceful and more smartly dressed than English girls.

I WONDER if the mothers of these two nations have an equal hold over their children. In England, even when mothers stay at home, we have "Nannies" or family nurses, to care for our children. Personally, I could not stand having a "Nanny" to look after my children. I should be jealous. I should not want anyone to know my children better than I should.

Anyhow, I think it is good for children to be brought up with their parents as their guides, and with their own brothers and sisters, and in better neighborhoods, and which are still very much needed on both sides of the Atlantic.

EST I be misunderstood, I must add immediately that I thoroughly approve of women having some interest outside their homes. I do not believe it need be a paying position. It may be political. It may be study. It may be social service. Some women are most valuable members of society just as wives and mothers, providing they do not allow the walls of their homes to screen the rest of the world from their eyes.

But these are the new economic and social problems which are being attacked vigorously and competently in the United States. I shall always watch closely what happens to them, and having visited America and made friends with those who are working them out, I shall follow them with more interest and understanding than before crossing the Atlantic.

Blind Student Plans Journalistic Career

A 18-year-old blind girl has joined the army of 2000 students at Louisiana University, imbued with a determination to pursue a field of endeavor that always has regarded vision as a requisite.

The field of journalism is the chosen life work of Shirley Deledernier, petite and pretty, who matriculated this fall at the university.

"I never let my blindness interfere with anything I want to do," she says, looking at you with clear, blue, sightless eyes, and shaking a head alive with golden curls.

Reporting, she believes, is no longer just a cut-and-dried job; the field has been broadened, specialized. One does not have to see to write; it is enough if one feels.

According to her friends, she has an exceptional talent for expressing herself; her pen drips with humor, and oftentimes with an insight far more keen than is to be found in the product of those who gaze on all of them.

She is the daughter of George W. Deledernier, State representative of Plaquemines Parish, and her home is in Pilot Town, southernmost city in Louisiana.

Such Rich, Slow-pouring Goodness

So thickly rich, this Heinz Tomato Ketchup, because it is the simmered-down essence of plump, vine-ripened tomatoes, delicately spiced . . . Just to see its thick, rich, red goodness pouring slowly from the bottle is to know that it's delightful!

You'll be more than pleased with this favorite ketchup. None other is like it—none other has its appetizing flavor and savor. Millions of women prefer it to all other ketchups.

It's this goodness and flavor that give you more for your money in every Heinz product, whether Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup, Heinz Prepared Mustard, Heinz Cooked Spaghetti, Heinz Rice Flakes—in any and all of the famous 57. And, too, you'll find them all priced very reasonably.

GOURAUD'S ORIENTAL CREAM

Lone Cave Man in the Canadian Wilds

In the following story Burt McConnell, conducting a "cave-man" experiment in the northern Quebec wilderness, tells of a surprise visit of a Committee (formed to see the project was carried out "on the square") to his camp. McConnell tells how he took pride in showing them his two months' stay in the woods. He proudly shows his new winnipeg coat which was in the process of tanning.

By BURT MCCONNELL.

TRAP LAKE PORTAGE.

(By courier to Norman-Quebec.)

This one-man expedition of the North woods accomplishes nothing less than a feat of endurance. It will have just the money spent and prize endured many times over, through the wide notice it has gained, it has been the means of sending two families who have known the whereabouts of the wilderness for 15 years—the brothers

Young Charlevoix Perron, of the James, happens to be district commissioner of the canoes; and the other, a writer, stayed overnight at the Perron maison on the way to the Washmeska River country, a little over three weeks ago.

Older Perron's name crept into the newspapers, and the newspapers read by his brother, now a student of Montreal. Letters first in 15 years—followed, now the families are united.

When I shiver in my "open" jack pine cabin tonight, I all comfort myself with the thought that the Perrons, after being "out" for almost a generation, are back with each other again.

While the Perron problem was being itself out, the writer was moved—and not a little surprised—last week, on the second anniversary of his stay in the wilderness, by a visit from a committee formed at the near-village (55 miles distant to see this project of mine was carried through "on the square.")

The committee consists of Father Tremblay, curate of the Catholic Church at St. Thomas Dyvigne; the Perrault of the village, and Forestier McKibbin who represents Chief Forester Piche, at Quebec.

I was sitting in front of my shelter, toasting my shins and wondering whether I would have a rabbit for supper, or the end of the back and two forelegs, when loomed on the horizon the figure of Father Tremblay, dressed in the cloth of the church and a huge sheepskin-lined coat.

He was followed by Mayor Perron, another huge figure of a man, and in their train came McKibbin and young Perron.

These were the first people to come from the outside world in two weeks. In all those lone hours, I had had no one to talk with, nothing to read, no light, not even the light of an animal larger than a mouse.

In such circumstances, it is likely to behave like a shipwrecked sailor rescued from a barren island. But if I did I am sure the members of the committee would not have been under such conditions, might be a little nervous or even irrational. For, after all, man is a gregarious animal, he craves human companionship. That is borne in upon me the longer I am cut off from civilization.

The committee, of course, looked critically at everything I had made—bow and arrow, fish hooks, fishline fish-spear (half finished); the awls for sewing my winter gear, now in the course of being made; my first pair of moccasins, partly finished; moose-hide mitts; my calendar, which consists of a notched balsam sapling; my "line" (fireplace); the cabin itself, the simple architecture of which caught their eyes; the drying, the mail bag and the forthright, was able to show them that I had food enough ahead to last me a day, that I was in excellent health, that I was considerably less impatient than when last they saw me, that my feeling was not that of a prisoner condemned to stay on a desert island for three months.

That of a business man and writer, "fed up" with the hectic social and business life of a great metropolis, overjoyed at the prospect of escaping it all for a time. There is no denying that a spell of loneliness (longing to be with my family and friends), bowls me over once in a while, but on the whole I am quite content. I have no doubt that thousands of men wish they might escape the hurry pace, the modern trend of living, but do not quite know how to go about it. Believe me, they may not have an understanding wife—as I have. So they keep on longing; they know that something is wrong with our highly complicated mode of existence, but they don't exactly know what to do about it.

It is another day and the committee has gone. Like the virgin in the Bible who neglected to fill their lamps with oil, I lost a great opportunity yesterday. I had an excellent chance, not only to procure a couple of meals, but to add a new dish to the rabbit-and-pike menus upon which I have subsisted for more than two weeks.

Several days before, I had finished my bow and arrow, but had not had occasion to use it. Then happened upon the partridge, sticking away in the underbrush

My second dash into the arms of American hospitality has ended, and still I have not had one glimpse of the inside of an American home.

The joy of being part of the peace mission, for the keen pleasure of filling a round of entertainment engagements made up for this lack, of course. But it is my nature to place such an importance on family life that my eyes turn at once in each county I visit to the homes out of which that country is made. All I have been able to see in New York, Washington, Philadelphia, Buffalo and Niagara Falls is the outside of homes, the cheerful, beckoning brick and frame windows behind which people live.

What is the atmosphere of an American home? How do parents and children get on? What attitude has a boy on the fifth floor of an apartment building toward his small sister lying in her crib by the window? How much is the care of these children left to nursemaids?

These are the intimate questions running through my mind as I contemplate the days, now come to a close. Because of the nature of my visit I had no time to investigate these homely, friendly aspects of American life.

Indeed, I had no time even to inspect the outside of homes in the Middle West, the West and the South of the United States. I leave with a curiosity still within me.

Some day I must come back. I must return as a woman interested in meeting men, women and children. I shall not stay in hotels then, going out only to visit clinics, Government bureaus, settlement houses, juvenile courts, brilliant receptions. I shall try to live as Americans live. I shall absorb something of the real American atmosphere.

THIS has been a wonderfully interesting trip. From the moment I set foot on American soil—or shall I say on American soil—for the first step was to the deck of a welcoming tug in New York harbor—until, regretfully, I left the United States behind me with the roar of Niagara Falls in my ears, I thoroughly enjoyed myself.

I loved the people who were so generous to me, the American cities where I was entertained, the American dinners, teas and meetings I attended, the breathless tours through the American countryside. But I should like to have stayed for a long while in an American home. Essentially I am a rather stay-at-home person. I had no wanderlust until I acquired a taste for travel, people people to travel before they have a taste for it, but I had to have a taste before I saw the pleasures of it. I have done quite a fair amount of traveling since 1925, when I went on my first voyage with my father to Ceylon.

Every trip since then was for me a little more eager; the states in 1927, Canada in 1928, Switzerland earlier this summer.

I think I could live in New York City without much changing the routine of life as I now live it in London. I rode in a subway the first time I was in New York and it did not seem to me there was much more rush than in the London underground. In general, life is speedier in the United States than it is in England, but I think I should like the rapid pace. I and threatening to take wing at any moment. Withdrawing as gracefully and noiselessly as possible, I hastened back to the cabin, grabbed my bow, and endeavored to hook the looped end of the string over the grooved tip of the bow. To my dismay the loop pulled out! By the time it was fixed, the partridge had disappeared.

In making the string for my bow, I had cut a strip of moose-hide from my rapidly dwindling skin some three-eighths of an inch wide and six feet long. In order to take off the hair, I soaked it in wood ash and water (an old Indian custom) overnight, and the next morning, while the hide was still wet, twisted it into a bow-string about three-sixteenths of an inch in diameter. When this dried, it was as hard as tough as rhinoceros hide. Soaking one end in water to soften it, I bound it permanently to one end of the bow with other strips of wet hide, hoping that when the two pieces shrank from drying they would grip the end. The other end was made into a loop to slip over the tip when needed, and to take off when the bow was not in use. It was this loop which failed me.

Coming hard upon a futile visit to my eight rabbit snares (one of them was carried away), the loss of the partridge was a greater disappointment than it otherwise would have been. My only other recourse was pike—and that seemed the most forlorn hope of all. For both trout and pike seek the deep waters of a lake at this season of the year; the one I killed about 10 days ago probably was a straggler.

At any rate, I had just finished an Eskimo-type fish spear, with two barbs, made from deer antler, to hook into the fish in case the spear itself should be disengaged by the struggles of the victim. Returning once more to the cabin, I threw the bow and arrow into a corner, took up the new spear and set out for the lower end of the lagoon, where a "gut" about 26 feet long and four feet wide separates it from another lagoon and the Washmeska River.

Clambering up one of the popular trees that line the shore, I feel I could be contented, moving with it.

One's first impression of America, when one enters through the port of New York, inevitably must be connected with the skyline. I have been very lucky in New York Harbor. I have seen the battle-mented outline of the city in very soft sunlight and in deep blue moonlight. I can remember how it caught me the first time I saw it, with a pink hue on all the buildings and a quietness in the air that was unexpected.

This last time when we came in to the harbor a mist had gathered over the skyline, but by the time the little Macon came close to the pier the mist lifted, and it was as beautiful as ever. New York City appears to me as though it had been cut out of a great rock. Broadway seems to me like a narrow cleft made by splitting blocks asunder rather than a street made by building blocks on either side.

I had been told to expect, but the ticker tape surprised me. I had pictured, more confusion and untidiness, less beauty and trembling light and shade in swirling, twisting tangles of ticker tape and confetti, caught up and tossed by an eddying wind.

I noticed that an American crowd expresses its feelings with hand clapping, whereas an English crowd cheers.

I overheard several remarks of onlookers in the cities we visited. One of the most amusing things I heard was in the Union Station, Washington. An excited young woman cried almost into my ear: "Oh, is that little girl it?"

In Buffalo, while waiting on a railway platform, some one shouted: "She has on a tailor-made suit and blue hat!" Just as if I were a fashion plate.

I received hundreds of letters during the trip, particularly from women, wishing me good luck in the mission. People seemed to realize that I as well as my father had my heart in the mission.

THEN there were the interviews, some almost every day of the trip. I was surprised by the kindness and sympathy of the newspaper representatives who came to see me. I think the reputation of the American press for more than average press impertinence is wrong.

One of the most noticeable differences between the appearance of Great Britain and the United States is that in Great Britain gardens and small fields usually are bounded by thick green hedges which I missed in America. So the English countryside has a more compact appearance than the American. The United States has real need, as has England, of its movement to beautify the roadsides. The great number of signboards along the roads appealed me. We have them, too, but not in such large numbers. As filling stations and refreshment stands are necessary, they must be designed in such a way as not to spoil their purpose or the scenery.

Incidentally, while we are touching on wayside stands, let me here confess with proper humility that I never have seen a hot dog. I have passed hundreds of huts labeled "Hot dogs, coffee," and though I have never stopped to satisfy my curiosity (having no hunger to satisfy), even before I was told they were frankfurter sausages the descriptive name raised in my imagination a small and a taste very similar to those of frankfurter sausage.

But on to Washington. I saw in the attitude of the people toward the head of their Government.

My brief stopover in Philadelphia was one of the keenest pleasures of the trip. Last time when I was there I went through the anxiety of having my father seriously ill in a hospital for three weeks. When you go through trouble with people you feel close to them. So, on passing through this time, I felt especially at home in Philadelphia, where people once were kind to me. But then generous kindness is a truly American characteristic.

To me the most important distinction between American and British women is the practice many American married women have of working outside their homes. Even in Canada more women seem to content themselves with household tasks. In the United States the viewpoint seems to be: "I'll go out and earn some money if my husband and I cannot afford to employ a cook without my adding to our income with my earnings." In Great Britain the girl whose husband is only moderately well off would say: "I shall go and have a

Watching through the fringe of grass, I realized that a fish in the hand is better than two in the lagoon, and struck. Both the bone spear and the barbs worked perfectly, and Mr. Pike (for it was he) was soon flopping about on dry land. But the commotion, of course, frightened the other: I shall have to get him tomorrow. Meanwhile, this thought tormented me: May I not be keeping other pike out of the lagoon? But a

During that time nothing moved in my end of the lagoon; I could see clear to the bottom for perhaps 60 yards in either direction. Then through the "gut" came two fish! From my cramped position they seemed to be about 12 and 16 inches long, with the larger one lazily swimming in front. Quietly as I could—for here was food, and food assumes great importance when you cannot telephone around the corner for it—I waited until they were out of sight, then ran over to the "gut." This I dammed up, so the fish could not get out and began another watch.

But the fish apparently were taking a sun bath, and were in no hurry, for it was almost sunset before they appeared. I had dammed the butt at the far end, hoping to lure them both into the narrow outlet at the same time. But the larger fish was 10 feet in advance

THE HUMAN BODY

By Dr. Logan Clendening.

RESULTS OF ORAL SEPSIS.

INFECTION of the mouth or teeth results in serious consequences to the whole body. The ill effects are not confined to the mouth alone.

For one thing it is impossible to keep from swallowing some of the infectious material; then loss of appetite and consequent nutritional disturbances follow, possibly infection of the stomach and bowels.

It is quite possible, during sleep when the glottis is relaxed and stertorous breathing and snoring.

The original work on this subject was done by Dr. Rosenow when he was associated with Dr. Billings in Chicago. Dr. Russell Haden of the University of Kansas, has done a great deal of important expansion in this field, having recently published a very important book on the subject.

It has been shown from this work of Haden's that if a patient has an abscess at the root of a tooth and also has rheumatism, the tooth, when pulled, will yield a culture of certain kinds of microbes. These microbes grow in abundance can be injected into a rabbit and it can be shown that in a short time the rabbit gets rheumatism.

The same thing applies to many eye infections, to some kidney and to some heart infections.

That much, I believe, all physicians of today will subscribe to.

That such infections cause ulcer of the stomach is perhaps debatable. That they cause high blood pressure or the degeneration of the organs which accompanies and brings on old age is still, so far as I can see, entirely unproved. But the idea of oral sepsis causing many widespread "engagements" in the body is a most useful and fruitful one. The teeth are part of the human body and their infection affects the whole system.

MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should know about Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by undigested food in the little stomach, such as feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curd. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book, "Useful Information." It will be sent you, FREE. Write The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1876.

HOOVER ASKS SENATORS TO PASS TARIFF BILL QUICKLY

Says Interests of Country Require Action—Urges That Campaign Promises Be Kept,

REFUSES TO ADMIT IT CAN'T BE DONE

Executive Calls for Adequate Protection of Agriculture and of Such Industries as Need It.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Statement was issued at the White House today explaining that President Hoover, in a conference with Senate leaders last night, urged expedition with and early completion of the schedules in the tariff bill so the measure could be sent to a conference with the House within two weeks.

The announcement said the President told the leaders that the wide difference of opinion and the length of discussions in the Senate "were themselves ample demonstration of the desirability of a flexible clause in order to correct injustices in rates could be promptly corrected by scientific and impartial investigation and action without such delays as the present discussions give proof of."

Text of the statement follows:

"The President was visited yesterday by a number of Senators all of whom called at their suggestions, and presented to him the grave situation that has arisen by delays in tariff legislation.

"They called attention to the fact that the Senate has had the tariff bill since June, with schedules to work out, and has not yet completed Schedule One. It was pointed out that a large amount of important legislation must be undertaken at the regular session which would be prevented by carrying the debate into the next session.

"Some of the Senators considered progress hopeless, as it appeared to them that the coalition intended to delay or defeat legislation, or did not intend to give adequate protection to industry. Others felt that some understanding should be attempted among Senate leaders by which the bill could be sent into conference with the House at an early date.

President Hoover's Position
"The President said, as he uniformly stated his position, that campaign promises should be carried out by which adequate protection should be given to agriculture and to the industries which the changes in economic situation demand their assistance. He said that he could not intend to give adequate protection to industry, therefore, would not admit that the United States Senate was able to legislate and that the interests of the country required legislation should be completed during the special session.

"The President has declined to interfere or to express any opinion on the details of rates or any promise thereof, as it is obvious that, if for no other reason, could not pretend to have the necessary information in respect to many thousands of different commodities which such determination requires, but he pointed out the wide differences of opinion on the length of the discussions in the Senate were themselves a demonstration of the desirability of a real flexible clause in order that injustices in rates could be promptly corrected by scientific and impartial investigation and action without such delays as the present discussions give proof of."

"He urged the Republicans to get together and see if they could not expedite the early completion of the schedules and send the bill to conference with the House within the next two weeks."

COALITION SARCAZM AIMED AT PRESIDENT

Post-Dispatch Bureau
201-205 Kellogg Building
WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Statement by President Hoover today urged "Republican leaders" get together and try to expedite the passage of the tariff bill through the Senate and into conference within the two weeks.

The statement was made by the President in a sarcastic comment by a Senate and Independent Republican in the Senate this afternoon.
